Janitor Outsmarts Gunmen In Bank

James J. Bichard Foils Robbery at Canadian Bank of Commerce; Prisoner for Over Hour

Cool action by a 60-year-old janitor, James John Bichard, 551 David Street, this morning stopped a hold-up at the Bay and Douglas Streets branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, by two armed bandits.

The bandits made good their escape and are the object of an island-wide manhunt by Victoria, municipal and provincial police.

Bichard was held a prisoner between 6.50 and 8.15 this morning. The gunmen made him lie on the floor of the office of the bank manager, J. C. Newmarch.

When Bichard covered by two guns was ordered to admit Giles Smith, 906 Market Street, a ledger keeper, for whom the gunmen were waiting to open the safe, the janitor rushed through the door and called for assistance.

Questioned in the City Detective Office, where the investigation was supervised by J. H. Rogers, inspector of detectives, Bichard told police both men were masked with white rags, one of which was found on the grass outside the bank. Bichard believed both men were about 30 years of age.

BELIEVED AMATEURS

Police believe the men were amateurs since they made no attempt to open the safe themselves and did not have a car for a getaway. When last seen they were fleeing from the bank after Bichard and Smith and headed towards Government Street and Esquimalt Road.

While assisting police in their investigation this morning Bichard told the story of the attempt to a Times reporter. Seated on a stool and unnerved by his experience, he told of arriving at the bank at 6.50 and being greeted by the two masked men, each holding a gun.

"Are you coming in here?" one asked.

"Yes," was the reply.

"Well, hurry it up and get in there," was the answer. One bandit indicating the manager's office.

The bandits made Bichard lie on the floor beneath the east window facing Douglas Street.

"Now keep your mouth shut and don't move if you don't want to get shot," the bandits warned. They made threatening motions with their guns. One of the weapons, it was discovered later, was stolen from a bank drawer.

PLEADED POVERTY

"After that they asked me who would be coming down that could open the safe," Bichard continued. "I told them Mr. Newmarch. They asked me whether any of the staff could fight. They said don't tell any lies if you don't want to get shot. I pleaded poverty with them. Told them I had a wife and a sick daughter and asked them not to shoot.

"They were good to me and did not harm me in any way. I told them I suffered from rheumatism and they took the floor carpet and pulled it under the window where I could sit or lie on it. They called me 'Dad' and 'old man,' and seemed to respect my age.

"They promised me $60 if I would keep my mouth shut. Then they started asking me more questions about the staff and who would open the safe. They kept me there for about an hour and a half and during that time we talked about the visit of the King and Queen and other things I don't remember. All the time they kept crouched under the window beside me.

"Then we heard somebody trying the door. They had latched the door on the inside after I came in. They asked me who it was and I told them it was Mr. Smith, the ledger keeper. One of them said to me, 'He can't get in.' I said, 'It doesn't look like it.' Then the same man replied, 'Can you open the door?' and I said, 'Sure'.

"Then one of them held up his gun and said, "Well, open it, but don't say a word and don't move. Now, mind what you're doing.'

COVERED BY GUN

"I went to the door and I knew they were peering from behind the corner of the manager's office with their guns on me. I figured it would be the only chance to get away. When I got to the door I opened it just enough to let my body through, then I ran out and yelled to Mr. Smith, 'Get out of here quick.'

"He ran with me across the street to Birley's Bakery, where we phoned the police. I did not see the men after that."

Detective William Stark and David Donaldson, fingerprint expert, responded from headquarters, where they received the call at 8.25.

When they arrived there was no trace of the men, but it was learned they had been seen running towards Government Street.

Police investigation disclosed entry was gained by forcing a transom above a window on the south side of the building, facing the city. A comparatively small piece of glass was removed from the pane, which led to the belief the transom was forced by one man who stood on the other's shoulders and then let his partner in through the front door. There were footprints in the flower bed on the south side.

Mr. Newmarch, manager of the bank, paid warm tribute to Bichard's presence of mind and gave him credit for frustrating the robbery.

BRITISH CRUISER ON VISIT—H.M.S. Orion, top, warping into her berth at the Esquimalt drydock jetty following arrival at 1.30 yesterday afternoon from Bermuda. The warship will be here until June 12 and her complement will participate in the Navy Week events here. Lower picture shows Capt. H. R. G. Kinahan, R.N., right, commander of the Orion, with Capt. V. G. Brodeur, R.C.N., captain-in-charge of the Esquimalt naval establishment.

Britain Alters Terms for Russia

May Drop References To League in Proposed Mutual Aid Pact

LONDON (CP)—In a final effort to bring Russia into the European peace bloc, the British government may drop all references to the League of Nations from its plan of a mutual defence pact linking Great Britain, France and Russia, it was reported in diplomatic circles today.

While making a concession to Russian demands on this point, Britain probably will stand firm on the determination not to give specific pledges of military aid to the three Baltic countries—Finland, Estonia and Latvia—which Foreign Commissar Vyacheslaff Molotoff demanded in his speech to the Supreme Soviet Wednesday.

Britain also will refuse to extend the pact to cover the Far East, should the Soviet make that demand.

VIEWS OF PRESS

The British press today expressed restrained optimism over negotiations for the pact.

There was an inclination here to believe that all Russia's demands are satisfied by the British proposals referred to by Molotoff before the Supreme Soviet in Moscow as "inadequate."

Meanwhile the elaborate reception in Berlin for the Jugoslav Regent, Prince Paul, was seen as an effort on the part of the Rome-Berlin axis to counter British success in concluding an agreement with Turkey and coming close to an agreement with Russia.

"But these very agreements make Belgrade extremely reluctant to commit itself to the dictators," commented the London Daily Mail, Independent. "It would be unnatural for Jugoslavia, a Slav country, to take an opposite side from Russia, and inexpedient for her to antagonize Turkey, with whom she is allied through the Balkan entente."

Formal Calls Made By Navy

Capt. H. R. G. Kinahan Of Orion Visits Mayor and Premier

Capt. H. R. G. Kinahan, R.N., of H.M.S. Orion, accompanied by Lieutenant-Commander C. W. Hope, R.N., paid formal calls this morning on Mayor Andrew McGavin at the City Hall and later went to the Parliament Buildings to pay his respects to Premier T. D. Pattullo and his ministers.

The call on the mayor was made at 10.30 and on the Premier at 10.50.

Provincial ministers who met Capt. Kinahan with the Premier were Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance; Hon. G. S. Wismer, Attorney-General; Hon. F. M. MacPherson, Minister of Public Works; Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture; Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Mines, and Hon. George M. Weir, Provincial Secretary. Commissioner T. W. S. Parsons of the Provincial Police also met the naval officer.

Earlier in the forenoon, at 10, a call was made on Brigadier J. C. Stewart, D.O.C. Military District No. 11, at Work Point.

The return visit to Capt. V. G. Brodeur, R.C.N., was made at the Esquimalt naval dockyard at 11.30.

Aldermen W. H. Davies, J. A. Worthington, B. J. Gadsden and T. W. Hawkins were present at the City Hall when the navy celebration events were discussed.

It was announced at Esquimalt this morning that the Orion will be open for inspection by the public on Saturday and Sunday from 2.30 p.m. to 6 p.m., and also one day next week, yet to be decided upon.

Large crowds of Victorians are expected to take advantage of the opportunity to inspect the warship here from the Bermudas.

Plane Makes Fast Flight to Calgary

CALGARY (CP) — A Royal Canadian Air Force Hawker Hurricane plane, averaging more than 300 miles an hour, today reduced the flying time for the 620 miles between Vancouver and Calgary to a mere two hours and five minutes.

Flying high over the Rocky Mountains, Squadron Leader E. G. Fullerton made the speedy flight in delivering the plane to the R.C.A.F. No. 1 fighter squadron here after it was assembled and tested in Vancouver. It was the first of six Hawker Hurricanes scheduled to be delivered here.

Edmonton Greets King and Queen

Royal Party Cheered At Farthest North Point of Tour

By SAM G. ROSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP) — Greeted by cheering thousands, the King and Queen came to Edmonton today for a 6½-hour visit. Bright sunshine reigned as Their Majesties stepped from the blue and silver Royal train, which arrived at 3.25 M.S.T.

Gateway to the vast northwest and its rolling expanse of land, lakes and rivers, Edmonton wore its finery as it had never done before.

Every street standard along the 12-mile procession route of Their Majesties carried decorations. Every building was dressed gaily. Pennants and flags were strung across streets.

The holiday mood struck the city early in the week. It gained momentum as Their Majesties left the B.C. coast cities and headed back across Canada over the northern route. With the Royal Couple back in Alberta, holiday spirit was at fever pitch this afternoon.

A 21-gun salute heralded the arrival of the Royal train in the city and the welcoming party at the station included Lieutenant-Governor J. C. Bowen and Mrs. Bowen, Premier Aberhart and Mrs. Aberhart, Mayor J. W. Fry and Mrs. Fry and Hon. J. A. MacKinnon, M.P., and Mrs. MacKinnon.

The Royal route followed Edmonton's wide streets, down Portage past an Indian encampment to the civic airport, through the business section and across the half-mile high level bridge over the North Saskatchewan River.

The crowds roared their greeting to the King and Queen in almost continuous cheering.

ADDRESS OF WELCOME

Chief formal ceremony was carried out at the Alberta Legislative Buildings. On the steps, Premier Aberhart read the province's address of welcome and Mayor Fry extended civic greetings. Seven Victoria Cross holders were presented.

In the evening, the Social Credit government will tender a dinner with Premier Aberhart as host and hostess. Approximately 175 guests will be in attendance and a beautiful gold dinner service will be used for those at the head table.

Leaving the hotel after the dinner, Their Majesties will go to the station where, for a second time, a 21-gun Royal salute will be fired. Boarding the train at 10 p.m. after their 6½-hour stay, the King and Queen will leave for Saskatoon and spend the night at a secret siding along the way.

Edmonton is the northernmost point of the Royal tour.

Rescue Hopes Wane for 90 In British Submarine

3 Die In Escape Attempt

LLANDUDNO, North Wales (AP)—The coxswain of a lifeboat at the scene of the Thetis disaster said tonight three men had died in a futile effort to follow the four who escaped early today from the submarine with Davis "lung" devices.

One of the three was reported to have been a stoker, Wilfred Thomas Hole. The British Admiralty messaged his wife: "Stoker Hole is believed to have died while endeavoring to escape from submarine Thetis. This will be confirmed when definite word is received."

LONDON (CP)—Lack of large scale undersea rescue apparatus, such as was used successfully in rescuing 33 men from the United States submarine Squalus off New Hampshire, forced British naval experts to rely on other methods today in attempting to save 90 men still trapped in the submarine Thetis.

An Admiralty officer said the navy had no rescue chamber like the U.S. Navy's diving bells and that he believed the United States was the only navy of the world equipped with such apparatus.

The Thetis, like all British submarines, is equipped with Davis escape apparatus, designed to permit men to escape from the ship individually.

'Lungs' Save 4 Thetis Men

BIRKENHEAD, Eng. (AP) — Strapped in oxygen rescue masks, four of the 94 men trapped in the partially submerged British submarine Thetis escaped safely this morning to the sun-flecked surface of the Irish Sea, 14 miles northwest of Great Ormes Head, North Wales.

While the Thetis lay with her nose in the mud, her great, fin-like rudder glinting above the surface, Admiralty workmen scrambled up her slippery slopes as plans were discussed for cutting off her tail wth acetylene torches to expedite the rescue of the others aboard.

First to reach the surface by use of the Davis "lung" apparatus were Capt. H. P. K. Oran, commander of the fifth British submarine flotilla, and Lieut. H. G. Woods. Capt. Oran survived the H-47 and K-12 submarine collision in 1929, in which 21 died.

Messages tapped through the submarine's walls told Capt. Oran and Lieut. Wood when to quit the escape chamber. Their position was indicated by a burst of bubbles on the surface. Both were taken aboard the destroyer Brazen.

An hour or so later Chief Stoker Arnold and F. Shaw, a member of the crew, came to the surface in the same way.

As it was realized getting the men out by the Davis escape method would be slow, the Admiralty considered cutting through the exposed tail of the 265-foot submarine, 15 feet of which was above water.

Ousted Refugees Sail From Cuba

Jews Weep On Deck as Liner Sails for Germany

HAVANA (AP)—The German liner St. Louis sailed today for Hamburg carrying 917 German Jewish refugees who were denied permission to land in Cuba despite their urgent pleas in five days of negotiations.

Louis Clausing, agent of the Hamburg-Amerika Line, said the St. Louis was bound for Hamburg but there was a possibility she might return to disembark her load of refugees if some agreement could be reached with the Cuban government.

As the ship took on fuel and provisions prior to sailing the refugees, most of whom had hoped to land pending entrance into the United States, thronged the decks, women wailing at the enforced return to the land from which they had fled.

Efforts were made to keep the passengers unaware of the actual sailing orders for the master of the ship had expressed fear of a "collective suicide pact."

Port police boats escorted the St. Louis out of the harbor, under orders to pick up any passengers who might leap overboard.

Cuban marines were held in readiness for any emergency that might arise in carrying out President Federico Laredo Bru's order that the St. Louis leave Havana.

Captain Gustav Schroeder of the St. Louis had expressed fear of a mutiny among the passengers if he put out to sea again, and one passenger had attempted suicide three days ago. He slashed his wrists and leaped overboard but was saved.

The refugees, including 500 women and 150 children, were forbidden to land because they lacked Cuban consular visas, passports and labor department permits. They held only provisional permits of the immigration department to land as passengers en route to the United States.

ORDERS TO CAPTAIN

HAMBURG, Germany (AP)—The Hamburg-Amerika Line notified the captain of the liner St. Louis at Havana today to return to Germany with his shipload of Jewish emigrants if they could not be landed promptly.

Earlier the line had protested to the Cuban government against orders forbidding the landing of the 917 refugees.

Forepart of Thetis Flooded

Reported Torpedo Tube Practice Sank British Submarine

LONDON (AP) — One theory widely held as to disaster which befell the new submarine Thetis when she dived yesterday afternoon off the north Wales coast and failed to come up is that something went wrong while the crew was demonstrating the flooding of torpedo tubes.

The four men who escaped to the surface were undestood to have explained that the forepart of the vessel flooded, nosing it down at a 45-degree angle. This resulted in the stern emerging from the water at low tide this morning, when the men escaped, leaving 90 in the submarine.

Later a strong tide swept the jutting stern under water and erased efforts to attach air hoses to the stricken craft or attempt other release measures.

The Admiralty statement that the stern had failed to reappear when the next low tide came lent support to a further theory that a second mishap may have occurred aboard the Thetis today after she first was disabled yesterday.

Such reasoning was based on the fact that when the four survivors daringly ascended with Davis lungs this morning they said their companions planned to follow them immediately.

None had succeeded as darkness deepened tonight.

What this second accident might have been no one could say. Even the four men ascended from the aft escape hatch. The fore escape hatch was believed to be within the forward flooded section, thus sharply limiting the egress for the full crew and large number of civilians aboard.

12-PAGE PICTORIAL SECTION TOMORROW

A 12-page pictorial section, which will serve as a record of the visit of King George and Queen Elizabeth to Victoria, will be included in tomorrow's issue of The Times.

The Times was unable to supply the demand for papers published earlier this week which contained pictures of the many interesting ceremonies Their Majesties attended while here. Tomorrow's pictorial section will contain all the pictures so far published and a number of new ones.

Stern of Thetis, Exposed for Hours, Now Under Water

Try With Pontoons

BIRKENHEAD, Eng. (AP)—Hope of saving 90 men trapped in the new streamline British submarine Thetis virtually disappeared tonight as exhaustion of their air supply drew close amid indications that at least some already had perished trying to reach the surface by themselves.

FEARS INCREASE

LONDON (CP)—Thirty-three hours after the new submarine Thetis went down in the Irish Sea, the Admiralty announced tonight that hope of saving 90 men still trapped in the undersea craft was "diminishing."

The Admiralty statement said: "The stern of H.M.S. Thetis did not reappear as anticipated when the tide slackened at 6 p.m., B.S.T. (9 a.m. P.S.T.) and an attempt is now being made to life the stern with pontoons.

"The Admiralty regret to state, however, that hope of saving any further lives (beyond four men saved with Davis "lungs") is now diminishing."

The grave statement of the Admiralty, which always exercises extreme care in the choice of words, intensified frantic salvage operations.

A great flotilla of naval craft bathed the huge area where the stern was last seen with floodlights.

Squads of divers were mobilized to attempt fastening of pontoons to the submarine.

DELAYED BY TIDE

BIRKENHEAD, Eng. (CP)—Attempts to rescue 90 men imprisoned in the sunken submarine Thetis with their air supply dwindling were impeded today by a strong tide which swept her jutting stern under water.

With the air in the submarine being used up, rescue of the men apparently depended on success of efforts to cut a hole in the stern through which fresh air might be pumped first and the men possibly brought to the surface later.

They had been trapped since 1.40 p.m. (4.40 a.m., P.ST.), yesterday when the Thetis submerged in Liverpool Bay in a test dive.

Four of the 94 men who were aboard the craft reached the surface strapped in oxygen rescue masks, but the others still were trapped.

They were believed to be weakening gradually, with air enough to last only until about midnight (3 p.m., P.S.T.). The submarine is lying nose down in 130 feet of water about 14 miles northwest of Great Ormes Head, a promontory on the north coast of Wales.

LINE UNDER BOW

As darkness fell rescue workers managed to get a line under the submarine's bow and attempted to raise it.

During most of the day 18 feet of the stern of the 265-foot submarine had jutted above the water, but both escape hatches, one fore and one aft, were submerged. For hours crews of rescuers raced against time in an effort to raise the hull or cut through it with acetylene torches to release the men.

During this time the Admiralty stated all those remaining aboard were alive. The four men who reached the surface were said to be "all right."

CHANGED BY TIDE

An Admiralty statement, issued after 7 p.m. (10 a.m. P.S.T.) was based on a report from the scene of operations at 4.50 p.m. (7.50 a.m., P.S.T.) which said the strong tide at that time had caused the submarine "to cant and the stern to go under water."

This forced abandonment of attempts to cut a hole in the stern, but with the low tide later it was hoped to resume operations.

Commenting on the escape of the last two of the four men who left the vessel early today, the Admiralty said:

"Those two survivors reported the remainder of the crew were then about to use the Davis escape apparatus and it is not clear at present what had prevented further escapes by this method."

Admiralty officials earlier had expressed belief the Davis escape method had been abandoned to preserve the waning air supply for those still awaiting rescue.

Pope Sees Hope in Peace Assurances

Tells Cardinals European Statesmen Pledged Him Good Will

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius told his cardinals today he had received "assurances of goodwill and of the resolve to maintain peace" from Europe's principal statesmen as a result of his recent overtures through Papal nuncios.

The Pope said he also had "other information" which had given "greater hope that the considerations of noble humanity, the consciousness of inevitable responsibility before God and before history, and the right judgment of the true interests of their people would have strength and weight to induce the government, in their efforts to reach a stable peace which would safeguard the liberty and the honor of nations, to think and to act in a manner calculated to reduce and conquer all obstacles to understanding."

The cardinals had come to pay homage to the Pontiff on his Saint's day.

The Holy Father disclosed that his intervention took place "towards the beginning of last month," when "international dissensions" appeared "aggravated to the point of degenerating into bloody conflict."

He told the cardinals that "this step met in general with the sympathy of the governments" and "we received assurances of good will and of the resolve to maintain the peace which was so much desired by the people."

The Pope said that by his survey he had found the beginning of a "relaxation of the tension in men's souls."

Child Born Dead to Mrs. John Roosevelt

BOSTON (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt made known today a child was born dead to her daughter-in-law, Mrs. John Roosevelt, wife of the youngest son of the President.

The child arrived "prematurely" at the lying-in hospital of the Richardson House, Mrs. Roosevelt said. She said the mother was in "fine condition."

The arrival of the grandchild was not anticipated until July, and Mrs. Roosevelt had announced the former Ann Lindsay Clarke would be unable to attend the reception to the King and Queen.

MILLER WILL TAKE SEAT IN VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER (CP)—At midnight tonight Alderman George C. Miller may be released from legal bonds which have restrained him from taking part in City Council deliberations following his election May 10.

Under the city charter the faulty poll made Alderman Miller's election open to challenge for a month following the contest. It is stipulated, however, that the winner in a disputed election must be given eight days' notice if his election is to be contested before a Supreme Court judge.

After midnight tonight it will be impossible to give the new alderman eight days' notice before the statutory "deadline" for a challenge.

Alderman Miller, a former mayor, was elected in a by-election held to fill the vacancy left by the death of the late Alderman Fred Crone. A last-hour rush to the polls created a shortage of ballots and several hundred voters were unable to exercise their franchise.

JUGOSLAV REGENT SEES BERLIN DISPLAY

Hitler Parades Troops For Three Hours for Prince Paul

BERLIN (AP) — Chancellor Hitler today followed up a pledge of respect for Jugoslavia's border with Germany "for all time" with a big demonstration of military might for Prince Paul, Jugoslav Regent.

The Regent, here on a five-day state visit, stood with the Fuehrer and high German army officers near Berlin's monument to war dead in Unter den Linden to see the parade.

For more than three hours troops marched and artillery, tanks and motorized equipment rolled through Berlin's streets while airplanes roared overhead.

The Regent, who arrived yesterday, opened today's ceremonies by placing a wreath at the war memorial.

Then, riding with the Fuehrer in the latter's automobile, he went to the technical high school, where the parade was witnessed from a platform.

HUNT FOR BRITONS HELD IN CHINA

British Officials Seek to Free Two From Japanese

PEIPING (AP)—Two British officials started out Friday to hunt for two colleagues believed to be prisoners of the Japanese military.

British authorities say they have definite information Lieutenant-Colonel C. R. Spear, military attache, is under arrest at Kalgan and has been since May 26.

They believe Lieutenant John Cooper, who left Peiping May 28 to investigate Spear's detention, also is being held. Cooper, a British language student, had a Japanese pass into the Kalgan area.

Japanese disclaim knowledge of their whereabouts.

Those who started out Friday were Brigade Major Delamain, of the British forces in Tientsin, and L. H. Lamb, acting counsellor of the British embassy here.

King and Queen Go From Jasper To Edmonton

Sun Shines Brightly For Their Farewell To Mountain Resort

Many Pictures Taken

JASPER PARK LODGE, Alta. (CP)—With a bright sun shining in a clear sky, King George and Queen Elizabeth left Jasper National Park aboard the Royal train today for Edmonton.

Their Majesties were rested and greatly refreshed after their 24-hour stay in the invigorating air of the Rockies.

The Royal train left at 9.31 a.m. (8.31 a.m., P.S.T.), one minute behind schedule, scheduled to reach Edmonton for a 6½-hour program.

The weather was excellent as the Royal party motored from Outlook Cabin, where they had spent the night. In other cars were members of the entourage who had spent the night in other cabins of the lodge.

Lac Beauvert put on a show all its own as the motor cars bearing members of the Royal party sped along the road on the shore of the lake. The coloring in the water, glistening under the sun, was superb.

NUMEROUS PICTURES

Many last-minute photographs were taken both by members of the Royal party and news and motion picture photographers aboard the pilot train.

In appreciation of courtesies shown during their visit, Their Majesties presented J. A. Wood, parks superintendent, and Mrs. Wood with an autographed photograph of themselves.

The Queen wore a pastel blue ensemble with a long coat and fox fur, and the King wore a brownish tweed lounge suit and coat for the departure.

The King and Queen were greeted at the station by a crowd of several hundred, including school children. The King stepped over a low barrier at the train to mingle for a few minutes and chat with some of the 50 war veterans who were lined up in two rows.

Cheers greeted their arrival at the station and as the Royal train pulled out Their Majesties stood on the observation car waving to the crowd.

SAW PARK SIGHTS

Although Jasper was scheduled as a rest visit, Their Majesties were active throughout yesterday. Untired by their 6,000 miles of traveling, they motored 23 miles to Maligne Canyon before they had lunch. They strolled around the canyon and on the trip saw a mule deer and a mother bear and her cub. The King took pictures of the bears.

After luncheon they went by motor to the Glacier of the Angels on Mount Edith Cavell. They walked several hundred yards to the ice, its narrow fissures revealing beautiful shades of blue and white.

Nature tossed in the brief snowstorm to complete Their Majesties' experience of Canadian weather. It came as they were at the edge of the glacier.

The 21½-hour stay in Jasper National Park was the last long rest spell Their Majesties will have until they arrive at Hyde Park, N.Y., in 10 days. From Edmonton tonight they will move eastward to Saskatoon, arriving there Saturday.

After a 10-minute stop Saturday evening at Melville, Sask., the Royal train will speed on across the prairies, through Winnipeg to Sioux Lookout, Ont., where a brief stop will be made Sunday evening. In the next few days they will visit Sudbury, Guelph, Kitchener, Stratford, Windsor, Ingersoll and other cities and towns in Ontario.

North Vancouver Not Satisfied With Visit

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP)—The North Vancouver Board of Trade executive, meeting last night, went on record as "deploring" the inadequacy of arrangements made for citizens to view the King and Queen on their visit here.

The resolution, copies of which will be sent to Prime Minister King, Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of National Defence, and the Vancouver central royal reception committee, added those responsible should be censured.

The resolution was apparently in protest against a change in the Royal route for the North Shore districts of North and West Vancouver in which six miles of the proposed route was deleted.

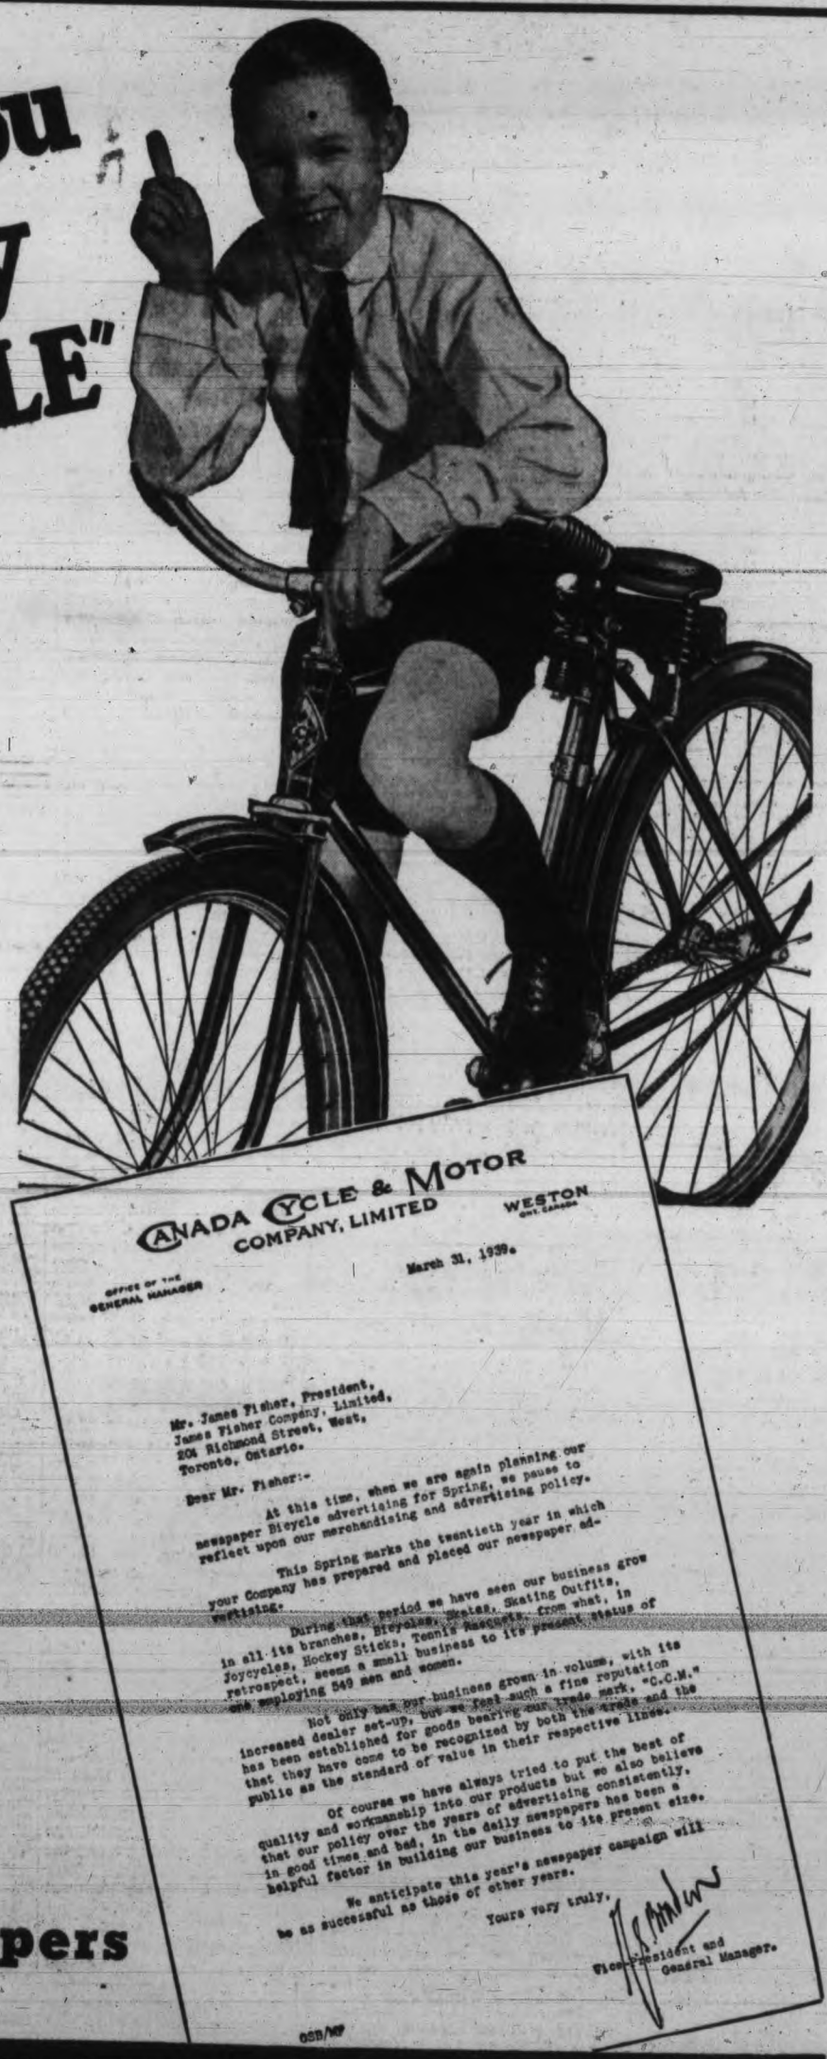
"Let me tell you how I got my C·C·M·BICYCLE"



"LIKE every boy, I always wanted a bicycle and used to coax Mother and Dad to buy me one, but they always had excuses. Then one day I noticed a 'Bike' advertisement in our daily paper and, of course, I read it. It was a C.C.M. advertisement and from it I learned many things about a 'two-wheeler' I never knew before.

"The following Friday another C.C.M. advertisement appeared in the paper and, you may be sure, I read it, too. It convinced me that if I ever did get a bicycle it would simply have to be a C.C.M.

"Then I got the idea of showing these newspaper advertisements to my Dad—he's always reading 'his newspaper' and quoting from it. So Friday night after dinner I kept an eye on him as he read 'his paper' and when he came to the page with the C.C.M. advertisement on it I said 'Look, Dad! a bike advertisement—let's read it'. Dad read it and said 'Humph', and then I showed him the next week's advertisement and others that appeared later.

"Then one Spring day I coaxed him again for, not just any bicycle, but a new C.C.M. bicycle and to my surprise he asked me why I wanted a C.C.M. especially, so I told him all the things I had read about in the advertisements and he listened. When I finished, what do you think he said? 'Good boy, I see you've been reading the ads—well, so have I'.

"To make a long story short, I made promises to Dad about doing my homework and going to bed early, so I got my wonderful new C.C.M. bicycle and Oh Boy! how I love it, but I know I never would have got it without those C.C.M. newspaper advertisements. They 'sold' Dad and believe me he's 'tough' to 'sell'."

CAPTAIN'S WIFE DISPLAYS COURAGE

Mrs. H. G. Bolus Consoles Friends of Thetis Crew at Birkenhead

BIRKENHEAD, Eng. (CP)—Mrs. H. G. Bolus, wife of the captain of the disabled submarine Thetis, gave a remarkable demonstration today of the stoicism associated with the term "sailor's wife."

Mrs. Bolus came to the Cammell Laird shipbuilders' offices here, where relatives and friends of men trapped in the Thetis were waiting for news. They had kept vigil there for hours.

Mrs. Bolus went from one to another, consoling them and in the end persuading them to return to their homes in the certain knowledge that everything possible was being done for the men. She took some of them to their homes in her own car. It was dawn when she finally returned to her own home to await news of her husband.

"I have rarely seen a more splendid action," said an official.

First news that Captain H. P. K. Oran, who escaped from the craft with a Davis lung, was safe was conveyed to his wife in Cosham, Hampshire, by a Press Association reporter.

"Naturally my anxiety has been great and I am very relieved at the news," she said. "What about everyone else?"

When told that all aboard were believed safe, she added: "It is wonderful news indeed."

There were joyous scenes at the Cammell Laird offices as news of the safety of the men spread. Mothers, wives and sisters whose faces had drawn with worry were laughing and smiling. Some, overcome by the sudden relief from tension, were sobbing with joy.

Aberhart Names K.C.'s in Alberta

EDMONTON (CP) — Twenty-one new King's Counsel were announced today in a Royal Visit honors list issued by the Alberta government. The order-in-council naming the new K.C.'s was approved on recommendation of Premier Aberhart, Attorney-General.

Three lawyer members of the Legislature top the list. They are Hon. Lucien Maynard, Minister of Municipal Affairs in the Social Credit administration; J. W. Beaudry, Social Credit member for St. Paul, and Gerald O'Connor, Liberal member for Edmonton.

Veteran Astronomer Passes in East

LYNCHBURG, Va. (AP)—Dr. David Todd, 84, an outstanding astronomer, who had hoped during his lifetime to establish communication with Mars, died last night.

His nearest approach to his dream was to take a series of notable photographs of Mars, 38,000,000 miles away from his camera lens on the heights of the Andes mountains.

Best known as an eclipse astronomer, he was professor of astronomy and navigation and director of the observatory at Amherst College, Amherst, Mass., for nearly 40 years.

He observed seven partial eclipses and twelve total eclipses during his lifetime and traveled far, often under extreme hazards, to obtain astronomical information.

In 1882, he observed the transit of Venues at Mount Hamilton observatory in California and aided in photographing the phenomenon, which will not occur again until 2004.

HITLER GIVES JUGOSLAV PLEDGE

Borders of Balkan State Guaranteed On Regent's Visit to Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—Adolf Hitler guaranteed Jugoslavia's borders in an exchange of toasts with Prince Paul during a lavish state dinner here last night.

The German Fuehrer, who is entertaining his guests royally during the five-day stay of the Jugoslav Regent, said that in Prince Paul's presence "we see a happy occasion for a frank and friendly exchange of views which I am convinced can only bring benefits to our peoples and states."

Stressing the friendship of Germany for Jugoslavia, he continued, "I believe in this all the more since a solidly founded and trustful relationship of Germany toward Jugoslavia — now that through historic events we have become neighbors with common borders established for all time—will not only secure a permanent peace between our two peoples and countries but beyond that will provide an element of calm for our jittery continent."

Prince Paul, in responding, noted Hitler's expression of respect for the Balkan country's border with the Reich.

"My visit is a demonstration of the determined will of the Jugoslav people to live and work together with the German people in an atmosphere of peace and friendship," he said.

Unusual measures taken by the German government to welcome Prince Paul and Princess Olga provided an indication of the importance attached to this country in the rivalry of the powers for position in southeastern Europe.

Hitler went to the railway station yesterday and greeted the visitors in person. He was flanked by Field Marshal Hermann Goering, Foreign Minister Joachin von Ribbentrop and Frau Goering. Airplanes roared overhead. All stores closed at noon. Schoolchildren were given a holiday.

ROBIN HATCHING EGGS IN PLANE

Nest Rebuilt Several Times at English Airport; Machine Flies

LONDON (CP)—The dignified London Times was moved to editorial rapture today by the Amersham robin which built her nest in an airplane and produced six eggs.

The stubborn bird defied airport attendants in the Bucks county town of Amersham who repeatedly demolished the nest. She rebuilt it each time until the attendant gave up and let the robin have her own way.

The fact that Percy Horden, the plane's owner, frequently uses the machine appears not to disturb the bird at all. She vacates the nest when the plane takes off, but remains on hand to pounce on the eggs as soon as it returns.

Horden believes the flights will not harm the eggs as the robin was clever enough to build the nest right behind the engine, which keeps the eggs warm when the machine is in the air.

Said the Times:

"The latest development (in nesting habits) was inevitable. It became so when some ancient Briton in an access of sentiment failed to evict a robin which had nested in his (arrow) quiver.

"from that moment (or one most like it), it could have been foreseen that as fast as man invented things, robins would nest in them if it was at all possible.

"The choice of an airplane is even a little tardy. There is, however, nothing old-fashioned about a robin which has made that choice.

"She went about building her nest with pertinacity, ignoring its repeated demolition by people who failed to realize she was interested in publicity first and procreation second."

HOUSE RUSHING TO PROROGATION

End of Long Commons Session Tomorrow Foreseen

OTTAWA (CP) — The House of Commons raced down the stretch today, apparently determined to get it all over with tomorrow.

Routine third reading of the general supply bill was first thing on the program today, after a whirlwind cleanup of estimates totaling $98,000,000 yesterday.

Hon. H. A. Stewart, Conservative, Leeds, Ontario, acting opposition leader, yesterday evening protested at the haste as the House was about to polish off the supply bill. He claimed the government had been running a "three-ring circus" these last few days with the House and two major committees, public accounts and banking, all sitting simultaneously. With only a slim attendance in the House estimates had been flowing through with little debate.

Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice and acting Government Leader, agreed much had been accomplished the last two or three weeks, but controversial items had all been debated extensively. Most of the estimates passed yesterday, he said, were routine matters.

Estimates voted yesterday included remaining Labor and Public Works, House, Secretary of State, Finance and Justice departments, none of which aroused any material debate.

13 KILLED IN PALESTINE CLASHES

Scores of Britons, Jews and Arabs Also Hurt in Disorders

JERUSALEM (AP)—Thirteen persons were killed and scores injured today in Palestine disorders. Casualties included Britons, Jews and Arabs.

A railroad patrol of four British soldiers and three Jews was wiped out by an Arab band near Kalkilieh, 35 miles northwest of Jerusalem. The outlaws seized a machine gun and other arms.

Six Arabs, including a policeman, were killed and a score injured when time bombs buried in the market place near Jerusalem's Jaffa Gate exploded as thousands of Arabs were making their daily food purchases.

Following the explosions, Arabs stoned Jewish traffic in the Arab-Jewish quarter, causing authorities to halt all traffic temporarily.

Three other bombs exploded in Jerusalem during the early morning. One ripped apart communication lines, putting 750 telephones out of use.

A large military searching party, helped by police dogs, was reported to have found the trail of the Arab band which attacked the railroad patrol. Royal Air Force planes participated in the search.

As reprisal for the explosions in Jerusalem authorities suspended three Arab urban bus lines. Seven lines of Jewish buses now have been suspended.

Churchwardens were no FAD!

Why did our forefathers smoke long pipes, and why don't we? Old prints show Sir Walter Raleigh smoking a pipe six feet long, and men in "tobagies" (smoking taverns) with pipes like those which later became known as "churchwardens."

Long stems helped to cool and take the "bite" out of tobacco which, in the early days, was unscientifically cultivated and poorly cured. But it would be pretty awkward to smoke a churchwarden while driving a car! And, happily, we don't need to. The tobacco industry has spent millions to develop pedigreed seed and to improve methods of growing and harvesting — all to assist Nature to produce better leaf. And it has spent millions more on warehouses in which to store thousands of tons for three or four years of aging. So our pipe tobaccos are mild, cool and fragrant.

So, too, with cigarettes . . . At first they were made only from expensive Turkish or Egyptian tobacco. Now the industry knows how to grow, cure and blend many varieties so that they are delightfully mild and, when rolled in cigarettes, are priced within everyone's reach . . . More people enjoy smoking today because the tobacco industry has made smoking more enjoyable.

KING SEES MOVIES HE TOOK ON TOUR

His Majesty Aided By Bellman at Jasper Park Lodge

JASPER PARK LODGE, Alta. (CP)—Two motion picture camera enthusiasts—King George and Russell Louden, head bellman of Jasper Park Lodge—spent two hours splicing films and running them through a projector last night in Outlook Cabin, home of Their Majesties during their rest day in this Rocky Mountain resort.

After Louden, whose home is in Ottawa, had shown two or three films to the King and Queen, His Majesty brought out a lot of films he had taken when crossing from England to Canada.

Louden did not have any splicing fluid, but a quick trip to the village was successful and His Majesty and the bell captain spent the next two hours splicing the films and running them through the projector.

So pleased was the King that he presented Louden with a pair of silver cuff links, engraved with the Royal crown and the letters "GR" underneath.

Vesuvius in Eruption

NAPLES, Italy (AP)—Mount Vesuvius erupted violently last night, putting on its most spectacular show in three years.

Clouds of ashes spurted from its crater and incandescent lava streamed over the crater's lip. The volcano's activity cast a ruddy glow which was visible for miles.

The eruption caused no immediate concern for the safety of those living near Vesuvius.

Refunding in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States treasury will borrow no "new money" this summer, but will refund a note issue coming due in September.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau said yesterday the $2,264,760,293 cash working balance in the treasury was sufficient to meet the difference between expenditures and income at least until the next regular financing date, which will be September 15.

Next Monday, Morgenthau said, he would announce an offer of new five-year notes to the holders of the $426,554,600 worth of 1 3-8 per cent treasury notes which will mature September 15.

FRIDAY, JUNE 2, 1939

Jugoslavia and Berlin

PRINCE PAUL HAS BEEN ASSURED BY Reichsfuehrer Hitler that Germany will respect Jugoslavia's borders "for all time." The undertaking was given by the head of the Nazi state at a lavish official dinner in Berlin last night. How much reliance the regent of the Balkan nation places in the Hitlerian word we do not know. The author of "Mein Kampf" has a black record of promises and pledges broken.

Presumably to add emphasis to the significance of post-prandial toasts and verbal undertakings Herr Hitler has today given Prince Paul and Princess Olga a front-seat view of the new Germany's military might. The royal visitors gathered with the Fuehrer and important German army officers near Berlin's monument to the war dead in Unter den Linden and for three hours watched the procession of troops, artillery, tanks, and motorized equipment roll by as a bombing plane motor "orchestra" furnished suitable accompaniment from overhead.

By reason of the minority of Peter II a Regency Council, headed by Prince Paul, substitutes for the King of Jugoslavia. His Majesty is now in his 16th year. The country has a population of approximately 15,000,000, with adherents of the Serbian-Orthodox Church accounting for 48.70 per cent, and of the Roman Catholic faith 37.45 per cent. The rest is made up of Protestants, Moslems and Jews. Its area is 95,558 square miles, or a trifle less than eight times as large as Vancouver Island. It has a forest area of nearly 20,000,000 acres, contains a varied assortment of minerals and soft coal, while its cattle, sheep, goat and poultry industries would be extremely useful to Germany or Italy or both.

Jugoslavia's geographical position, of course, is extremely handy for the Nazi and Fascist brothers-in-axis—especially enhanced with Italy in possession of Albania. Her northwest frontier lies against the Germany whose military might Prince Paul gazed at today. The whole of her Adriatic coastline fronts on the Italy which seized her southern neighbor without let or hindrance a few weeks ago. Indeed, this particular Balkan state would appear to be the one nut which either Germany or Italy or both would find simple to crack at will—and Jugoslavia does not belong to the "Stop Hitler" association.

However, Prince Paul may have more trust in Herr Hitler than other heads of European states have, or he may have read more into last night's banquet toast and this morning's reassurances than the head of the German Reich intended. In any event, Jugoslavia's security, whether guaranteed or not guaranteed by Germany, is at best relative. If her neighbors go on the rampage, and try to grab more property to which they have no title, King Peter the Second's country will be in an uncomfortable position.

He Spurned $9,000,000

HOW WOULD THE AUTHORITIES OF the University of British Columbia feel if some kindly-disposed person offered them $9,000,000? What kind of an Irish reel would Hon. John Hart execute on the lawns fronting the legislative pile if somebody sent him a certified cheque for even half this amount to put into the consolidated revenue fund against the day when more notes fall due? Neither the province's highest seat of learning nor the provincial treasury is likely to be tempted with such sweet morsels. But Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, was recently offered $9,000,000 and he refused it, spurned it, turned it down definitely.

Why did this eminent educationist refuse the money? There were conditions attached to it, strings that would have restricted the freedom of thinking and teaching which are implicit in any university worthy of the name. For instance, Mr. A. would offer a million dollars to found a school of economics, provided that only doctrine B were taught in the school. No self-respecting university could, of course, "sell" a department in this manner. The accusation is often made that many American universities have been "sold in advance" to benefactors, either directly or indirectly. Thus it is interesting to note one instance in which at least the more direct approaches to the citadel of academic freedom were held secure against invasion.

Universities are supported by money from someone. If it is the state, the state—which, after all, is the people—has the right of control. But there remains the peculiarity about money given to a free academic institution: It must be free at any moment to deny or even turn and bite the hand of its donor.

Any Offers?

FIVE WEEKS AGO AN EMINENT JOURnalist with an international reputation for clarity of expression and sound judgment wrote this: "Is there not one responsible statesman in the world willing to 'make a fool of himself' by demanding that a peace conference be held now, instead of amid the ruins of a later day? It would be hard for his appeal to reach people in those countries where press and radio are so rigidly censored, but it could, to some extent, be done. The rashest dictator would hesitate if even a part of his people could be told what looms ahead. The people of every country are in a mood to sacrifice much for peace. Some have already sacrificed much."

In the British House of Commons, more recently, veteran Parliamentarian George Lansbury gave a hint of his desire for a new kind of leadership when he gave expression to these sentiments:

"What is needed more than anything else in the world today is for some nation to be good enough—as Lincoln Stebbings, the great American writer, said—to enter the promised land, some nation that will be brave enough, bold enough, to say that we are living in an entirely new economic age, when, for the first time in the history of man, we can say that there is the potential power to produce enough for all the children of man, when we can say, 'You can get access to every part of the world,' when we can say that nation shall speak unto nation.

"All that is needed now is for some nation, and especially a nation like ours, with great possessions, to say, 'We are willing to make a tremendous contribution towards the peace of the world by offering co-operation and service in the use of the world.' It will mean giving up some prestige; probably it will mean giving up:

"'God who made us mighty, make us mightier yet.'"

Mr. Lansbury followed this allusion to Land of Hope and Glory with the explanation that such sacrifices as Great Britain might have to make to give effect to his prescription for the world's ills would mean putting his country and her resources on the altar of common service. He concluded with this:

"Just as, within this nation, we ask the landlords and the capitalists, through this House, to allow us to take the resources which they hold and to use them for the benefit of the common people of this country, so what is needed is an international movement that will give the lead in sharing the world instead of destroying the world."

The questions the journalist asks and the remedy the parliamentarian suggests may be characterized by some as fantastic while "Stop Hitler" negotiations proceed. But our own final question is: What could be as fantastic in the human scheme of things as a world spending more money on instruments of death and destruction than it has ever spent before while, at the same time, almost superhuman efforts are being exerted to prevent their use?

The Human Element

IT IS ALL VERY WELL FOR US TO TALK glibly about building great fleets of aerial bombers as if there were nothing more in it than pushing a button. On the other hand, however, it is to the point to ask if we ever think of what it means in human terms. The Dominion's Minister of National Defence, Hon. Ian Mackenzie, knows as well as and probably better than anybody else in Canada that as his department obtains the money for the expansion of the Royal Canadian Air Force there will be more pilots in the air—to increase, it must be admitted, the world toll being steadily and relentlessly taken of picked young men.

No exact figures are available; but it is believed that Germany kills about three pilots every two days, Britain and France at least one every three days, Italy perhaps as many, merely incident to flying routine. It may seem incongruous to think of this, when a war has just closed in Spain that took a million dead, and while many thousands are still being mown down daily in China. But in a program of air armament expansion that is one element which must be counted in—the regular toll of pilots who must die in the course of everyday practice flying, even without any war at all.

In Canada such accidents are still rare enough to bring out large headlines whenever they happen. But we, too, as we expand our fighting air force, must pay in blood as well as dollars for the arms race. It is part of the tragic sequel to the failure of the Disarmament Conference from which much was expected when it began its deliberations in that memorable February of 1932. It was a misnomer almost from the start. It quickly developed into a Rearmament Conference.

After capturing $500 in a French bicycle race, the winner ate 18 eggs, 30 sandwiches, 24 oranges, two pounds of sugar. He drank a bottle of champagne, a bottle of cognac and 200 bottles of beer. There goes his prize money.

WORST SINCE MOHAMMED

George N. Shuster in the Commonweal

Both systems, the Russian and the German, are evil enough. But surely this can be said: the experience of two decades shows that Russia suffered so heavily by the bloodletting incident to the suppression of the opposition and the low economic development it inherited from the past that it has never been, in all that time a really substantial menace. The havoc it has wrought has occurred when chaotic economic conditions fomented unrest and revolution in which Communist groups could figure as one element, and so far always an unsuccessful one.

Of Germany it can be said that the potential opposition forces are still relatively intact, though of necessity subservient. And for this very reason, paradoxical though it be, Hitlerism is the most formidable menace which European civilization, and with it religion, have confronted since the days of the Mohammedan invasion. In Stalin's fondest dreams there are probably no such incidents as the taking of Austria and Czechoslovakia. National Socialism may continue for a long time to terrorize both the German people and the surrounding world. Or it may blow up very suddenly, as a consequence of really serious party dissension.

The first seems at the moment more probable. Accordingly one can only say that those who are inclined to relegate the German system to a position of inferiority to Russian Sovietism as an agent of trouble in human society are ignoring the essential aspects of the world in which they live.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

AMONG OURSELVES

IT IS MY PRIVATE OPINION, not to be repeated to outsiders, nor admitted to the City Council (which is always chopping down shade trees and imprisoning defenceless white bears) that Victoria is getting better looking every year.

You probably haven't noticed it, because you have been here right along, taking it as a matter of course that you are permitted to live in this other Eden, demi-paradise (Shakespeare having had us in mind unquestionably when he wrote that speech in Richard II).

You haven't noticed the increasing loveliness of this place, but a stranger like me, coming home from exile after months in the East, notices it right away. The trees (those left by the City Council) are getting larger and handsomer. The gardens are improving with the diffusion of horticultural knowledge. The blossoming shrubs are maturing. Why, an English gardening enthusiast, traveling with the King's party, told me that in England, the home of the hawthorne, the bloom never becomes half as luxuriant as it appears at this moment. All we need is a little architecture to set off the scenery, some towers rising above the trees, some mouldering churches and melancholy ruins.

MAUDLIN

AFTER BEING IN EXILE, you find yourself growing almost maudlin about Victoria. When we came in from Vancouver the other afternoon I suddenly discovered that I was lecturing on the ship's deck to a hundred correspondents of the world press on the glories of this place, pointing out with a rising pride the houses along the shore, the queer towers of Victoria College, the green roof of Government House and even the grim round water tower on Rockland Avenue, the reason for which is unknown.

Of course, none of these hard-boiled newspapermen from the ends of the earth believed a word I said. They had traveled all over Canada with the King and seen everything and they were tired out. But they began to realize after they landed that this was something the like of which they had never seen before.

And when they saw Beacon Hill Park with the broom (what the City Council has left of it) and the hawthorne trees and the gardens and the Saanich countryside, I think all of them would have gladly abandoned their great careers and settled down here. But we pointed out that you cannot settle down here until you have undergone an apprenticeship, a period of probation like an aspirant for religious orders. You have to learn, we told them, to wear old clothes, and to drink tea in the afternoon, and to dig in the garden with your own hands and to write letters to the editor about Social Credit. That discouraged most of them and they went away as one leaves a fairy story or a dream, knowing that one is not fit to enjoy it for long.

And, when a busload of us were being driven out to the show at Beacon Hill, our driver, that stalwart Victorian, Rebel Mowat, looked out at the glorious sunshine, the cloudless sky, and told the foreign correspondents in a loud voice: "Too bad you picked such a miserable day. This is the worst weather we've had this year."

There is no doubt that in men like Rebel and me Victoria is breeding, besides its lush flowers and shrubs, the most luxuriant breed of patriotic liars in the world.

FOR A NICKEL

ANOTHER THING which you probably have enjoyed without appreciating it is the extraordinary reporting of the Royal tour. As late as 10 or even five years ago nothing of the sort could have been attempted. But, with modern equipment and a vast, invisible organization, you were looking at photographs of the King and Queen in the newspapers within a few hours of the event.

If you had seen the army of photographers, the darkrooms set up in hotel bedrooms, the million-dollar telephoto machines, the chartered airplanes, the little army of reporters, the scores of telegraph operators and squads of messenger boys, all of whom labored all day and most of the night, then you might have appreciated the service which the newspapers gave you for a nickel. At no time in history has a nickel purchased so much. And most likely all you noticed was a misspelled word or two and wondered why the editors couldn't be more careful.

THERE'S

There's the peace of the heralding dawn
Softly filtering through my window screen,
And spraying refreshing rays of silver pink
To golden mist throughout my room.

There's awaiting the morning breeze
To cool my feverished cheeks;
I know in its tender caress
The kiss of a mother for her babe.

There's strength in the glaring sun,
Pouring out its brilliant heat—
I close my eyes to fancy flee,
Lying death its healing rays.

There's the velvet ebony of the night
Sprinkled with its star-dust gleaming;
There's the stillness of its fragrant air
That lulls me softly into slumber.

"Please, dear Lord, I but ask of you,
To eternize these Sunday morns,
That I may hear a long while yet, pealing bells,
Inviting, 'O Come All Ye Faithful'."

There's heavenly right and heavenly quiet
In the closing Sabbath Day.
There's my joy of being so close
To the Maker of this earth.

MARTHA IRWIN.

Music is the universal language. The people of one country who begin to appreciate and feel the music of another nation not only lose their jealousies, but learn to trust and honor their neighbors.—Burle Marx, Brazilian composer-conductor.

HOW DUNCAN FEELS ABOUT IT.

From Cowichan Leader

Victoria is coming in for considerable criticism up-island over the handling of arrangements for the visit of the King and Queen. We do not wish to critize unduly, as a serious task was involved and there was little precedent. However, some of the cause for complaint could very readily have been avoided.

Almost anything could be excused except the arrangements for the groups of up-island school children and the lack of arrangements for presenting C. G. Palmer to the King, this latter a provincial government matter.

All the school children, several hundred of them, who were accommodated in groups at Beacon Hill Park and allowed to see only this ceremony had a view of the King and Queen as specks in the distance.

Why the reviewing stand used after the presentation of the King's colors was placed at a street corner outside the grounds instead of on the other side of the field from the dais and near the children is a mystery to everyone up-island. When the King took the salute he was seen by only a few persons in one corner.

As a result of the whole arrangement, several hundred up-island children saw nothing of Their Majesties at the park, although a great amount of money was spent in the expectation that they would be given a good view, and they were prohibited from seeing them during the morning parade, although there was oceans of room.

All efforts by the Chamber of Commerce and others to obtain the presentation of Mr. Palmer produced no results. Mr. Palmer is the last Lucknow veteran, and is believed to be the oldest veteran in the Empire. These facts and others were pointed out to the Deputy Provincial Secretary, and to others when action there failed. This was the only presentation which this district requested, and Cowichan people cannot be blamed for being caustically critical of the presentation lists and of those enabled to meet the King.

WHAT ABOUT IT?

To the Editor:—I note that "Mayor McGavin is sorry," and that one paper prints an editorial congratulating the mayor and City Council for their excellent arrangements for the Royal Visit. The paper is either very easily pleased or else is very anxious to curry favor with our local small-town officialdom.

What about the miles of practically empty seats along the Royal route while hundreds of up-island school children, some of whom had started at or before dawn, were deposited well out of the way and never given even a chance to glimpse Their Majesties?

What about the hundreds of Victoria Brownies, forced to parade at 10 a.m. in Beacon Hill Park and left there until 3 p.m. in such a position that the parading bluejackets completely shut off their view?

Doubtless Their Majesties were duly thrilled at the opportunity of meeting our local officials and their wives, but both the King and Queen have always shown a keen interest and affection for the children of the nation. A little less thrusting by local officials upon the attention of Their Majesties, and a little more unselfish thought on behalf of the hundreds of small, loyal enthusiasts, who have now missed what is probably their only chance of seeing their King and Queen, would, without doubt, have provided an infinitely more acceptable type of reception for Their Majesties, and at the same time enhanced the reputation of our local officials.

I will leave comment on the utterly ridiculous rumors of food and accommodation shortage which sent thousands of would-be visitors to Vancouver instead of coming here, to others, but I would like to know what our much-vaunted and expensive publicity bureau did in the matter.

URGES ROYAL BUNGALOW

To the Editor:—Your "Royal" issue of the Times was worthy acknowledgment by your readers and, indeed, by Victoria at large.

Might I suggest that Victoria's citizens subscribe a definite gift of remembrance to our King and Queen, in a holiday home to which they may come for rest and recreation occasionally? The Royal bungalow, its furnishings, material and labor as far as possible should be Canadian in tone and work. Subscriptions should be limited to $1 each for adults, and a quota to be arranged for children.

In this way all would contribute to this gift from the hearts of all, proving to our beloved Sovereigns the warmth of hearts greatly moved by their united effort to make their visit a hand-clasp firm and true.

Why should Canada not have a Royal residence in this happy land? Vancouver Island, pearl of the Pacific!

SELF-DENIAL EFFORT

To the Editor:—I would like, on behalf of the Salvation Army, to express our appreciation of your generous courtesy in giving so much space to the announcing of our self-denial effort.

I am pleased to be able to state that the self-denial drive was indeed a success, supporting our work to the extent of $2,300.

A PARENT'S IMPRESSIONS OF THE GREAT DAY

To the Editor:—I stood in old, historic Esquimalt, opposite the beautiful Lampson Street School, amid greenery, velvet lawns and gaily-decorated stands. The band was playing. Hundreds of school children stood to attention in their colorful summer dresses and uniforms—a delight to the eye. Their hearts were full of excitement and expectancy, for the long-awaited moment had arrived.

The band played God Save the King as the Royal car came over the brow of the hill and, full-throated the children started to cheer their King and Queen.

With a gasp of astonishment I realized the King wasn't going to stop. A fleeting glimpse and our Sovereigns were gone. Preparations which had taken weeks of planning—all over in 30 seconds.

My daughter, who is a nurse, stood at the Jubilee Nurses' Home, among her charges, some of them sick children in wheel chairs. The Royal car passed by. A fleeting glimpse, a yearning look, and the hospital bearing the name of Victoria, saw them no more.

I stood among thousands of boys and girls at Beacon Hill. They inspired the multitude by their brave cheers, which arose again and again like a glad song. They sang God Save the King along with the band. They called in unison again and again: "We Want Our King, We Want Our King." They were denied even the sight of their King, for he was blocked out by a row of armed men who were engaged in some flag ceremony or other.

The schedule of the day was adhered to, oh, how efficiently! The official time-press was closed against the few precious moments which would have lived for life in the hearts of our boys and girls.

Our Queen was invited to kiss children of foreign blood, but she was denied the joy of handclasps with her own kith and kin.

D. C. FRAME.

WHO?

To the Editor:—Who was it failed the children of Vancouver Island on Tuesday, May 30?

Who was it conceived the idea of placing children in cattle pens, on flat ground, under a broiling sun, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., without even making arrangements for feeding, watering, and amusing them?

Who had the lack of imagination to think that these children, many of whom had risen at dawn and traveled by many devious means, could possibly see their King and Queen through two ranks of stalwart bluejackets bristling with bayonets?

Those listening to this triumphant and epoch-making tour across our vast continent have heard with delight the fresh young voices of Canada's children, acclaiming the children's King and Queen.

Why were the voices of Vancouver Island's children silent?

Who!! I ask, was responsible for this, the most crass and unnecessarily cruel piece of staff work on a brilliant tour?

Don't tell me it was the inter-departmental committee. It was someone much nearer home.

CAPT. HUBERT O. BUTLER,

93 Beach Drive.

SAD AFTERMATH

To the Editor:—The following letter has been addressed to Mrs. Alan Morkill, provincial commission, Girl Guides' Association:

We here at Shawnigan are all so very grieved with the disappointment at not seeing Their Majesties on Tuesday, and I feel a letter of protest might help to avert a recurrence of this kind at some future time. I do not know who the committee in charge of the arrangements for the Guides and Brownies were, but we were given an invitation by our commissioner to go to Victoria for the purpose of seeing Their Majesties, and were given the information that places would be kept for the Brownies, so as to insure them a good view. I am sure you must agree, even if the navy did not occupy the centre of the enclosure, the distance would have been far too great for the Brownies to have had a good view of their beloved Queen. Please picture in your mind this sight: Our little seven-year-olds returning home after a very long day filled with disappointment, greeting their parents, who had made endless efforts financially and otherwise to get their little ones into Victoria, with tears streaming down their dust-coated faces, saying, "Mummy, we didn't see the Queen," and the horror-stricken parents demanding some explanation from the Brown Owl, who, overwhelmed with shame, had to admit they, the leaders of the Canadian Girl Guides, had let their children down on this great historic event.

Can you, after this, expect the leaders of the packs of such tiny tots, whose minds are now beginning to mold into our future citizens, to continue to instill into these minds the loyalty to their King and country? And how now can we speak to them of our great provincial commission, whom we have held before them on such a high pedestal.

When arrangements were being made surely our Guide committee could have seen the ceremony at Beacon Hill was solely for the purpose of the navy. Do you not think seats could have been erected along the wide expanse of the 15-mile route?

I should like to make this clear to you: I attach no blame to our up-island commissioners, who, if they were near Victoria and had had a voice in the matter, I am sure would have protested against such arrangements, for one can only speak as one finds, and I have proved these in question to be real Guides, with interests only for their girls.

Perhaps you will recall our conference last year when a great deal of time was used in trying to find ways and means to create interest among our young girls and get them to become Guides. What better opportunity did we have to prove to the public our interest in these young people than the one in which we have so badly fallen down in? I hope we, who are responsible for this terrible mistake, will centre a great deal of our time in future to the one law we so proudly teach, "Think of others, not ourselves."

CORONER'S JURY ABSOLVES DRIVER

Find No Negligence in Death of G. V. J. Greenhill, Struck By Car

Henry B. Tate, 19, driver of the car which struck George V. J. Greenhill, Strathcona Hotel, causing injuries which brought about his death, was completely absolved from blame by the coroner's jury at the inquest in McCall's Funeral Home yesterday. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

Tate testified he was traveling about 20 miles an hour south on Douglas Street last Sunday evening when he struck Mr. Greenhill, who was crossing towards the Strathcona Hotel. Tate said he did not see the 87-year-old man until he was within five feet of him, lights of approaching machines having impaired his vision. He attempted to swerve the car away but struck Mr. Greenhill with the right front headlight.

Miss May White, a passenger with Tate, said she saw Mr. Greenhill about 20 feet in front of the car and shouted twice to "look out"

Dr. Lloyd W. Bassett gave evidence of injuries to the aged man which caused his death.

TO RESTORE PARK TURF IMMEDIATELY

Central Park playing field turf, disturbed by the recent carnival show, will be back to normal in about 10 days or two weeks, W. H Warren, city parks superintendent, stated today.

The parks department will re-turf certain parts, but will need only fertilizer and heavy watering for the remainder, Mr. Warren said.

The damage was not nearly as serious as some people thought. Alderman S. H. Okell, parks committee chairman, stated.

"The question of allowing the carnival show on Central Park was discussed by the full City Council. It was thought that great crowds would be in the city and that the sideshows would provide an additional inducement to keep them here," he stated.

"We wanted to put the show on the northwest corner but agreed to permit use of the football field if the other location was too small," he said.

He repeated Mr. Warren's statement that the damage would be repaired without delay and use of the field for games would not be curtailed for any length of time.

LIVELY DEBATE ON MORTGAGE BANK

J. F. Pouliot Opposes Measure as Commons Tries to Speed Up

OTTAWA (CP)—The House of Commons today considered in committee of the whole the bill providing for a central mortgage bank—last piece of legislation on the order paper.

A brief flurry between Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, and J. F. Pouliot, Liberal, Temiscouata, Que., concerning French copies of the bill as amended by the Commons banking committee featured the start of the day's sitting.

Mr. Pouliot said the bill was not printed in French and suggested "the government either postpone this matter until a French copy is available or else drop this bad legislation."

Mr. Lapointe said adoption of such a suggestion would delay the House unnecessarily. Later he announced French copies of the bill were distributed.

In committee, Mr. Pouliot proceeded to oppose the bill, which provides for a writing down of mortgages on farms and non-farm homes. He said it was unsound and was state socialism.

Hon. C. A. Dunning, Finance Minister, complained Mr. Pouliot's remarks were out of order at one stage and Deputy Speaker Sanderson agreed. The member insisted he was free to discuss any aspect of the bill on the first clause.

"I believe in free speech," he said, "and I want free speech preserved in this House. If this room is not to become a star chamber we must express our feelings with regard to legislation as long as we keep within the rules."

Mr. Pouliot repeatedly was called to order as he attacked the bill and the deputy minister of finance while the first clause of the act was under discussion.

Car Registration Increases Steadily

Motor vehicle registration in British Columbia this year continues to show a steady increase over last year, according to provincial police motor record office figures.

To the end of April there were 90,973 vehicles licensed for operation on B.C. highways, representing a 1,527 gain. These figures are for the first two months of the license year, which commences March 1. There have been 72,961 passenger machines and 18,012 commercial vehicles licensed.

A Montana ranch house will be the theme of the exhibit of the "Treasure State" in the hall of western states on Treasure Island.

Russia, which produces 75 per cent of the world's flax, will use all of it at home this year.

Hundreds Attend Colorful Wedding In Vancouver

Governor Among Guests At Finucane-Taylor Ceremony at St. Paul's

VANCOUVER (CP)—St Paul's Anglican Church was the setting here yesterday for the marriage of Kathleen Taylor, daughter of Major and Mrs. Austin C. Taylor of Vancouver, and John Finucane of Pasadena.

Hundreds attended the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Harold King, and the reception at Shannon, the home of the bride's parents. Among the guests were the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Hamber.

Matrons of honor were Mrs. Charles Finucane of Spokane and Mrs. Brinkley Smithers of Baltimore, sister of the groom. Miss Patricia Taylor was her sister's maid of honor and Bunny and Susan McQueen, small daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Neil McQueen, were dainty small flower girls.

Unmarred by ornament, unbroken in graceful princess line, the bride's beautiful gown rippled in undulating lines, the skirt extending into a wide flared train. Of slipper satin in palest ivory, the gown flared gradually from a high waistline, where, inset above a squared yoke, daintily gathered fine white net was shirred into a finely frilled high neckline, held in place by a narrow rolled band of the satin tied in a lover's knot. The shoulders were high and slightly padded, and tiny self-covered buttons were regimented from the neckline to waist in the back and on the sleeves at the sheath-like wrists.

The bride wore a veil of rose-point lace which floated above a mount of fine white maligne and was caught to her head by a restrained tiara of orange blossoms.

A cascade of lovely flowers formed her bouquet; white orchids, cattleya orchids in palest lavender, lavender sweet peas, stephanotis and fresh California orange blossoms.

In the drawing room at "Shannon," where over one thousand guests were received after the ceremony, Johanna Hill roses, orange snapdragons and Roosevelt yellow roses mingled perfume and color.

The bridal couple left later for a six months' trip to South America before returning to Pasadena to make their home.

Victorian to Wed in South Tomorrow

O'Brien-Hawkins Wedding To Be Held at California University

The wedding of Rosemary Adora, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Madison Hawkins of Berkeley, Calif., and John Thomas O'Brien Jr., son of Mrs. John Thomas O'Brien of Victoria and the late Mr. O'Brien, will take place in Newman Chapel, the Catholic chapel of the University of California, tomorrow.

Miss Hawkins is of a family of distinguished jurists. Her father is a well-known attorney in the east and throughout the western states. She graduated from the University of California with the class of this year. A member of Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority, she was prominent in class and college activities and served as vice-president of Newman Club for two years.

Mr. O'Brien, who is also a graduate of the University of California, was a member of Delta Upsilon and was president of Tau Beta Pi during his senior year. He is now a petroleum engineer at Taft, California, where the young couple will make their home.

Princess Patricia Lodge, No. 238, Daughters of St. George, will meet in the K. of C. Hall at 8 this evening. Installation of officers will take place. Members are reminded of the rummage sale to be held on Saturday at the corner of Broad and Johnson Streets. Members are requested to bring refreshments.

John Albert Gordon Sewell, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Bracken Sewell, Shelbourne Street, was christened by Rev. A. E. G. Hendy in Christ Church Cathedral last Sunday afternoon. Messrs. Ronald Nicklin and George Wragg and Miss Norma Wragg were godparents. The baby was dressed in a beautiful hand-made christening gown and robe, which had been worn by Mrs. Sewell's mother. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Sewell entertained at tea in honor of their son's godparents.

Quarter of Funds to Go for Clover Point

Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter, I.O.D.E., decided at a meeting yesterday that in future 25 per cent of all net proceeds of money-making ventures shall be added to the trust fund already established for the improvement of Clover Point.

It was decided to accept the invitation of Mrs. Christie to hold the garden tea at her home, 1296 Richardson Street, on Wednesday, June 14. Tea will be served in the garden, cards played in the house and prizes will be given. The convener is Mrs. Bertha Parsons.

Mrs. W. V. Hessey of Edmonton was introduced to the meeting as a visitor by the regent. Mrs. H. Goodfellow and Mrs. C. V. Neilton were thanked for their efficient convening of the rummage sale held recently.

The treasurer's report, presented by Miss Georgina Herd, showed a satisfactory balance on hand. The report for Echoes was presented by Miss Josephine Crease, that for educational work by Mrs. C. W. Pettinger, who said she had sent Victoria papers of the Royal Visit to the adopted outlying schools. Mrs. Ada Matheson reported for Girl Guides.

The city will be asked for permission for the chapter to sell heather again on August 26. Mrs. H. Goodfellow and Mrs. Bertha Parson will be joint conveners for Heather Day.

The regent spoke very kindly of Mrs. Colin Cummins, a past secretary and regent of this chapter for many years, who lies ill hospital.

Mrs. A. M. Pillar was thanked for her hospitality in entertaining the chapter for its last meeting. Mrs. Ada Matheson will act as Alexandra Rose Day convener for this chapter, the allotted corner being at the south side of Spencer's, on Broad and View Streets.

Three new members were installed at the meeting. Mrs. L. Mackenzie, Mrs. Lincoln Smith and Mrs. D. S. Mugford were welcomed by the regent, Mrs. A. S. Christie.

After the meeting adjourned the hostesses for the day, Miss M. McAdam, Mrs. C. V. Milton and Miss B. Grant, served refreshments. During the tea Mrs. R. B. McMicking, the "mother" of the chapter, spoke in glowing terms of the King and Queen, and the real joy of seeing them in Victoria.

ANNUAL MEETING

The Victoria Musical Arts Auxiliary will hold its annual meeting this evening at 8.15 in the home of Mrs. J. Hebden Gillespie, Fairfield Road. All members and friends are urged to attend, as the election of officers for the 1939-1940 season will be held. An attractive musical program, featuring contestants in the recent festival, has been arranged.

A discussion of importance will be held on points contained in the recently distributed questionnaire. Refreshments will be served.

National Chapter Asks Canada Stand Behind Britain

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. W. B. Horkins of Toronto was elected president of the National Chapter of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, here yesterday. Mrs. Lawrence Smart, formerly of Regina, was elected secretary. Mrs. Horkins has been second vice-president of the National Chapter.

Delegates to the closing session of the order's 39th annual meeting passed resolutions declaring their preparedness to defend their liberties and asking the Canadian government to stand behind Great Britain.

The resolutions were passed unanimously. A resolution, to be forwarded to the federal government, reads:

"That we petition the government to stand firmly behind the Motherland in case of national emergency."

Another resolution passed urged that the members of the order pledge themselves to "exercise their franchise in all municipal, provincial and federal elections."

Reporting for the film committee, Mrs. H. S. Angas of Toronto recommended that provincial chapters report to their provincial governments if the percentage of British and Canadian news is less than 50 per cent of the newsreels showing in their provinces.

An invitation to hold the 1940 meeting in Saint John, N.B., was accepted.

THREE-IN-ONE DAY

SUNBURY, Pa. (AP) — A birthday, graduation day and wedding day will all come at once for Mary Elizabeth Hallman. She will become the bride of Lester Zeiders an hour before she receives her high school diploma Tuesday—her 18th birthday.

The Euphonic Poetry Group met at the home of Mrs. W. J. Neil, 354 Linden Avenue. After the usual program a social hour was enjoyed. The hostess served refreshments. It was decided to hold the next meeting at the home of Mrs. W. B. Chadwick, 17 Boyd Street, on Tuesday, June 20, at 7.30 in the evening.

China Medical Aid Offices Moved

The Committee for Medical Aid for China packed up all its bandages, linen, old clothes, machines and its small amount of office equipment and moved to its new headquarters at 617 Broughton Street. The building formerly occupied on Government Street has been sold.

The new office is light, and the large windows will be a boon to the machinists. The location is more central and it is hoped that this will result in a larger supply of linen and a greater number of callers. The problem of material for bandages is one that is ever present. Much work on the part of all members will be required to get the next shipment ready for dispatch by June 10.

The committee will be grateful if some friend will lend a substantial kitchen table or other table to accommodate extra workers.

A field report, dated May 5, and received on Wednesday, implores interested friends to send blankets to "make sure that China's wounded do not freeze to death." "Twenty thousand blankets will save 100,000 wounded! "How many can you give?" entreats the China Defence League.

"Last winter, hundreds of wounded died not from their injuries but from exposure. This is what a doctor working in the area wrote at the time: 'In winter weather, when warm clothing is scarce and bedding rarely sufficient to protect the patients from the intense cold, a doctor's role is not to be admired. We are left helpless to watch the patients lose their resistance and die, simply because we cannot keep them warm."

If any friends care to donate blankets for this purpose, the Committee for Medical Aid for China will be glad to pay the freight.

The F.B. Club spent an enjoyable afternoon yesterday at the home of Mrs. C. Harris, 2636 Cedar Hill Road. The next meeting will be held June 9 at the home of Mrs. D. W. Dopp, 1754 Leigh Avenue.

Council Urges Ban On War Materials

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP)—Protest against the export of war materials by the Dominion was voiced by the National Council of Women of Canada last night, as sessions of the annual meeting continued here.

In a resolution sponsored by the Victoria Council of Women, Canada was urged either alone, or with other civilized nations, to take every possible action to stop the flow of war materials to aggressor nations, "whose actions are an outrage to the civilized world."

Delegates voted down a notice of motion submitted by the Vancouver council providing that the council's mental hygiene standing committee be withdrawn.

The Edmonton council filed a resolution asking that the notice of motion be tabled for further consideration. It was argued that mental hygiene committees across Canada had rendered outstanding service.

Queen Mary greeting a small girl on one of her many public appearances in the interests of charity.

Queen Mother Has Strenuous Round Of Duties

By WILLIAM McGAFFIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON (AP)—Queen Mary is working very hard for a person who was 72 on May 26.

The Queen Mother is, in fact, one of the busiest members of the Royal Family. Her pace would exhaust many a younger person. It is little less strenuous, in some respects, than in the days when she was the Queen Consort by the side of King George V.

In addition to her numerous public appearances, she has assumed the responsibility during the absence of the King and Queen in North America of keeping an eye on her little "pupils"—Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret—who are learning many of the queenly arts at their grandmother's knee. She is as fond of them as they of her. She keeps a scrapbook of their activities.

POPULAR QUEEN

Recently she saw 17 plays in five weeks, and attended the opening night of the International Opera season at Covent Garden for the first time in more than 10 years.

Her visits add approximately $1,000 a week to a play's income, managers estimate, and two months to its run. She always sends a cheque around next day for her seats.

Despite her many years in the public eye, Queen Mary still excites attention wherever she goes. Once when Her Majesty was driving through a poor part of London, a man on the corner doffed his shabby hat and remarked, "She's a queen, and by —— doesn't she look a queen!"

That's one of the things the United Kingdom likes about her. She looks the part. Her kindly austerity, the odd forearm flip of acknowledgment to crowds (which her daughter-in-law and granddaughter have copied to perfection), the unchanging ankle-length skirts, coats with fur at the neck and wrists, and her distinctive hats perched on silver curls—these have become almost as much of a British institution as tea at 4 p.m. or the Nelson column in Trafalgar Square.

Woman Threatened By Young Bandit

VANCOUVER (CP)—A young bandit, using an apron tied around his face for a mask, held up Mrs. A. J. Dodd in her West Eighth Avenue home yesterday and escaped with various articles after threatening to kill her.

Mrs. Dodd told police she had just returned from a shopping trip when she was confronted by the man, wearing one of her aprons tied around his face. He held what she believed to be a gun.

"I'm a hold-up man—I'll kill you if you move," Mrs. Dodd said the bandit threatened.

He ordered her into a bedroom, then fled.

The upstairs rooms of the Dodd home had been ransacked.

Many Changes in Queen's Costume During Tour

Blues Predominate; Simple Styles Save Packing Worries

By MURIEL ADAMS
Canadian Press Staff Write.

JASPER PARK LODGE, Alta. Queen Elizabeth has changed her clothes 30 times and all but once worn different costumes during the first half of the Royal journey across Canada. She will make as many changes again before the Empress of Britain, carrying the Royal guests, sails from Halifax for England June 15.

Blues have predominated in her daytime clothes, varying from palest bluey-white through grey to deep crocus blue, and her jewels have been pearls and diamonds.

To save worries with regard to packing, pressing and climatic changes, Her Majesty included in her wardrobe gowns of the simplest style with long straight coats and touches of fur for warmth and adornment to meet the daily engagements on her Canadian calendar. Washington, which promises to be warm, doubtless will disclose clothes of a cooler nature.

In the evening, when time permite a little extra fussing, Her Majesty presents a queenly figure in her majestic robes and picture gowns.

Although her hats are designed not to conceal her face, they are styled distinctively. A splash of feathers here, a flippant touch of veiling there or a tricky bow-knot or flowers and the feminine touch.

HAS TWO MAIDS

Queen Elizabeth has two maids to dress her and keep her wardrobe in order. But for a day or so, after one of her English maids was left behind with an infected finger, she got along with only one. A substitute arrived in Banff from Government House in Ottawa by plane to join the Royal party.

Furs in a smoky shade have complemented the majority of her ensembles, and as a knee-throw while driving she sometimes uses a wide smoky fox rug. White fox capes top her evening gowns.

Several images stand out in the minds of daily observers of the Queen. Her fairy-like palest pink satin crinoline gown, with clusters of roses caught on the panniered skirt, worn in Quebec—her exquisite white satin robe de style, patterned on the wide skirts with gold lace, worn in the Senate chamber at Ottawa—her chic dusky blue dress wool coat and perky fuchsia-trimmed hat worn on her departure from Banff—the graceful picture she made carrying a large grey silk parasol with her short-jacketed orchid afternoon gown worn at the naval ceremony at Victoria.

For mountain climates the Queen wears tailored woolen frocks and suits and soft felt hats and usually ties a brightly colored kerchief about her throat. Her shoes are mostly high-heeled pumps in suede, but she has with her some low-heeled walking shoes for mountain hikes.

Clubwomen's News

The Overseas League will meet at the yacht club at 3.30 Monday afternoon.

The Wolverton Group was hostess at tea yesterday afternoon in farewell to Mrs. H. M. Kyle, who is leaving the city to taken up residence in Virden, Manitoba. The guests were the members of the Women's Union of the First Baptist Church. Mrs. Kyle was the recipient of a corsage bouquet of Sweetheart roses and a book by Leslie Weatherhood, which was presented by Mrs. George Bishop on behalf of the executive and union of which Mrs. Kyle was a valued member.

Mrs. M. C. Wilkinson was re-elected for a seventh term as president of Central W.C.T.U. at the annual meeting held yesterday afternoon at the Y.W.C.A. Mrs. Henry Webster was re-elected vice-president, and Mrs. J. R. Clements, treasurer. Miss Elsie Harte was named corresponding secretary, and Mrs. G. M. Newell recording secretary.

The treasurer's annual report showed a favorable balance in the bank, and the president expressed appreciation to Mrs. J. W. McKean of her efforts in collecting donations for the special fund for delegates' expenses.

Surprise was expressed that the beer parlors and liquor stores remained open on May 30, while other places closed in honor of the visit of Their Majesties to Victoria.

Plans were made for the August meeting to be held in the form of a picnic at the Japanese Tea Garden at the Gorge.

Self-help Group Seeks Warehouse

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver Self-help Co-operative Association, formed here recently to assist unemployed, is attempting to obtain a warehouse in which to commence operations, according to a statement by the association's executive committee.

The warehouse will be used to store various commodities which the association will offer for exchange between its members, and will also be used as a clearing house for services which the members may wish to exchange.

The association also plans to obtain farm lands in the nearby Fraser Valley district for production of commodities for use of its members.

La Guardia Asked To Rule On Nudity

NEW YORK (AP)—The delicate problem of controlling nudity in the New York World's Fair girl shows was handed over to Mayor LaGuardia today by shocked Sheriff Maurice A. Fitzgerald of Queen's County.

Fitzgerald broke up a "Miss Nude" contest in the fair's amusement zone Wednesday night and arrested two entrants competing without benefit of brassieres.

In a letter to Mayor LaGuardia, he demanded the city take over the licensing of all World's Fair shows and clamp a censorship ban on those showing too much of the feminine form.

Monument Moved For King's Visit

LEVIS, Que. (CP)—Unveiling of a commemorative monument, which later will be removed from the station platform to a terrace perched high on the cliffside, will feature the Royal Visit June 12 to this city across the St. Lawrence River from Quebec.

Advised yesterday by Justice Minister Ernest Lapointe that the King and Queen would be unable to halt more than 10 or 15 minutes here on their way to the Maritime Provinces, municipal officials decided to bring the 10,896-pound granite shaft to the station. They said the King, who will unveil the monument, would not have time to climb the cliff to the terrace.

Longshoremen, Tiremen Win

Score One-sided Victories in Senior Softball Fixtures

Manager Frank Shandley's Douglas Tire Shop nine, comprised of veterans who have seen duty on the softball diamond many seasons, hit a mean stride last night at Athletic Park to humble last year's champion Cameron Lumber team 12 to 3 as the race for the senior bunting resumed.

At Victoria West Park, Manager Jim Leckie's Victoria Longshoremen hammered out a 10 to 1 victory over the Saanich nine flying the banner of Kentractors.

It was stevedores' fifth straight triumph and strengthened their position in top berth. The outcome of the Athletic Park tussle boosted Shandley's club to the second berth and Camerons dropped to third.

Eddie Dempster, Cameron's first-string twirler, bumped into trouble in the opening frame when the tiremen connected with four of his offerings for safe hits, including Dave Robertson's homer, to collect five runs. The Tire Shop guns were subdued a little during the next two frames but they really boomed out again in the fourth to fire across another quintette of runs.

After Tiremen had collected 11 runs from him in three and one-third innings, Dempster was yanked in favor of Louis Leonard. Leonard stopped the Tire Shop, allowing only a brace of safe hits, which were made good for one run, in his four and two-third innings on the mound.

Eric Moir went the nine-inning route on the hillock for Shandley's outfit. He yielded eight base knocks but he was backed up solidly by his teammates.

Camerons failed to get more than one run in any one frame.

Score—
Camerons ....010101000— 3
Douglas Tire .50150001x—12
Batteries—Dempster, Leonard and Travis; Moir and Caddell.

FIVE STRAIGHT

Still unbeaten since the season opened, Longshoremen hit the ball hard all night to gain a decisive victory over Kentractors. Bill Tesky, who weighs better than one-tenth of a ton, was on the hillock for the waterfront workers and while he was got to for 10 safe hits only two tractor men reached the third sack during the evening. He kept his hits well scattered and his teammates supported him splendidly.

From the offerings of Ono and Hemsworth, Longshoremen collected 20 hits. Their two big innings were the sixth and eighth when they got three runs each time.

Score—
Kentractors ....000010000— 1
Longshoremen 01020313x—10
Batteries — Ono, Hemsworth and Mossey; Teskey and Moir.

Canada's Tennis Hopes Are Poor

Must Find Youths Ready To Devote Entire Time to Game, Says Official

MONTREAL (CP) — Unless Canada can find a half-dozen youths willing to devote "eight or 10 years" to the game it appears unlikely that the Dominion ever will produce a "great" Davis Cup tennis team, in the opinion of E. H. Laframboise.

A cup player himself nearly a score of years ago and nonplaying captain of last year's squad, Laframboise thinks climatic conditions work too great a hindrance on Canadian tennis players. In addition, he believes almost as great an obstacle is the fact that many of the Dominion's stars cannot "afford enough time to tennis."

"In the United States one finds at least three or four young tennis players coming up each year—youngsters who turn out to be stars," he said. "But these chaps seem to devote the whole of their early career to the game.

"They play eight or nine months of the year, while the most we can get in up here is five or six months."

WEST HAS ADVANTAGES

Laframboise thinks that Canada's best tennis players should come from the Pacific coast, where they have "the opportunity of playing in tournaments during the winter in the United States and the advantages of a longer season than in the east."

Only one member of last year's cup squad comes from western Canada. Southpaw Doug Cameron, who played a singles match against the Japanese, hails from Vancouver. Bob Murray and Laird Watt are from Montreal, while Ross Wilson, a former Montrealer, now lives in Toronto.

All four have announced their intention to forego Davis Cup tennis this year, paving the way for such younger stars as Roger Durivage and Lewis Duff of Montreal, and Bill Pedlar of Vancouver to try for places on the team which plays Cuba in the first round this year. It is the belief of Laframboise that the cup retirement of Watt, Murray, Wilson and Cameron will lend some impetus to the game among younger players.

MACK, HARTNETT NAMED MANAGERS

NEW YORK (AP) — Connie Mack, manager of Philadelphia Athletics with more than 50 years of baseball behind him, yesterday was named manager of the American League team which will meet the National League's hand-picked forces in the annual all-star game at the Yankee Stadium, July 11.

Ford Frick, president of the National League, announced Leo (Gabby) Hartnett of Chicago Cubs as the senior circuit's managerial choice.

Sammy Snead Golf Leader

Fires One Under Par 69 In First Round of Round-robin Pro Event

NEW YORK (AP) — Sam Snead, the Canadian open champion from White Sulphur Spings, W. Va., raced through the Fresh Meadow Country Club's back nine in 33, three under par, yesterday, and staked a preliminary claim to the $1,000 first prize in the Goodall round-robin golf tournament.

His 33, with birdies on the 587-yard 16th and the 17th, gave him an 18-hole score of 69, one under par, and the first-round lead with a plus 11 standing. This is based on the fact Sam won five holes from Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Ill., former United States Professional Golfers Association champion, and six from Olin Dutra of Los Angeles, United States open king in 1934.

Snead and Harry Cooper of Eastern Point, Conn., also with 69, were the only players in the field of 15 top-notchers to break par, while only Ben Hogan of White Plains, N.Y., equalled standard figures with a 70. Hogan took advantage of poor showings by his rivals, Tony Penna of Dayton, O., and Horton Smith of Oak Park, Ill., to pile up a second-place total of plus nine. Cooper, finishing 2 up on Walter Hagen and 5 up on Denny Shute of Huntington, W. Va., placed third with plus seven.

CHALLENGE GOLF FIXTURE SUNDAY

Team From Times and Colonist Meets Government Printing Bureau Squad

On Sunday at the Uplands Golf Club a challenge match will be played between teams representing the Government Printing Bureau and the Times and Colonist. Charles Banfield will captain the government squad, and Red Lawson the combined newspaper outfit.

Players will start off from the first and 10th tees. Fourball matches will be played in the morning and singles after lunch, but both matches may be played in the morning if the players wish.

The draw, with the government players first named, follows:

FROM FIRST TEE

9.00—Bob Morrison and Jack Bacon vs. "Red" Lawson and Ollie Corbett.

9.05—C. F. Banfield and Don McDiarmid vs. Joe Delahunty and Joe Hibberson.

9.10—A. Sutton and M. Wright vs. Harry Hodges and Jack Caddell.

9.15—S. Silvester and R. Mylrea vs. Ted Corbett and V. Baines.

9.20—J. Regan and S. Carr vs. E. Relf and A. Blaney.

9.25—G. Neill and H. Shepheard vs. Bob Turner and F. Elliott.

FROM TENTH TEE

9.00—H. Anderson and B. Johnston vs. Les Colton and I. Donaldson.

9.05—B. Halkett and H. Stubbs vs. Sid Jenkins and Tony Radford.

9.10—N. Robertson and R. Askey vs. Rom Knott and Ab Cliff.

9.15—J. Wiley and J. Robinson vs. W. Sturken and B. Fletcher.

9.20—K. MacDonald and D. Ritchie vs. Cap Thorsen and Lloyd Baker.

9.25—B. Lidstone and G. Gunriss vs. H. Gardiner and Sam Parker.

Athletics Meet Navy Tomorrow

Will Meet in McGavin Cup Baseball Fixture; Second Division Results

Navy and Athletics will take the baseball spotlight tomorrow afternoon when they meet at Athletic Park in a McGavin Cup fixture. This cup race is drawing to a close, and as all the teams will be out giving everything they've got to improve their playoff chances, games should be keen from now on.

A victory for Charlie McDonald's navy men will push the Athletics down into the third berth, while a defeat for the third-berth sailors will enable A's to strengthen their hold on their present position.

The game will start at 2.30.

Cubs are still setting the pace in the second-division Humphries Cup race. Last night they scored their sixth straight triumph by handing the Navy its first defeat of the season, 8 to 7. With the score reading 8 to 7 in their favor, Cubs pulled off a sparkling triple play in the last of the ninth with two navy men on the sacks.

Lansdell, Eagles' ace twirler, was the star in the game that saw the birdmen take the measure of Oak Bay by an 8 to 2 score. In splendid form, Lansdell sent 17 batters back to the dugout via the strikeout route and allowed only a pair of bingles.

The third second-division tussle last evening saw Pitzer and Nex beat the cellar-berth Cedar Hill Athletics, 8 to 6.

Old Oak Bay Bond Issue Paid Off

Municipality Clears Up First of $200,000 Waterworks Debt

Without formality beyond the production of a few musty old documents, Oak Bay yesterday finished paying off the first part of the $200,000 bonded indebtedness incurred in building its $400,000 waterworks system.

The loan, floated in 1909, three years after the incorporation of the municipality, was for $30,000 and was the first of Oak Bay's 30-year issues to mature.

The money was used to enable Oak Bay to buy a small distributing system from the then rapidly-growing city of Victoria. The growth of the municipal system since that time is illustrated by the consumption figures. In 1910 Oak Bay used 12,226,000 gallons of water. Last year the figure was 259,434,000 gallons, more than 20 times as much.

The original documents of the 1909 bond issue were signed by two men both of whom figured prominently in Oak Bay's early history—the late Reeve William Henderson and the late J. S. Floyd, first municipal clerk.

The loan paid off yesterday was the first of a group of 30-year issues floated in the pre-war boom days, the rest of which will mature in the next two or three years.

Next October 15 Oak Bay will see the last of a $63,400 20-year issue which paid for the Willows School.

In 1933 the municipality paid off the last of more than $500,000 in local government debt incurred before the Great War. Last year a 25-year bond issue for park purposes was cleared up.

COMMITTEE REJECTS ATTACK ON JEWRY

Moseley's Statement Stricken From U.S. Congress Inquiry Record

WASHINGTON (AP)—Major-Gen. George Van Horn Moseley, embattled enemy of "international Jewry" and Communism, concluded a two-day appearance before the Dies committee yesterday with a prepared statement which the committee considered so grotesquely anti-Semitic that it was immediately stricken from the record.

The retired general, who also revealed an apparently gnawing fear that he would be assassinated at any moment by his red foes, excitedly expressed throughout a long session on the witness stand, his approval of Hitler objectives and accomplishments, and his regret that the leaders of some "patriotic organizations" in the United States find the movement personally profitable. His own activities, he said, had cost him money.

But the climax of his testimony was reached with his prepared statement.

The statement proved first of all an account of what various people abroad had said about Communism and the Jews in 1918 and 1919. The committee shut him off abruptly.

After promising to stick to subversive activities in America, the general was permitted to continue.

The remainder of the statement contained assertions that the Jews "maintain a state within a state," that they cannot pay allegiance to both "international Jewry" and to the United States, and that they are fomenting both international war and domestic revolution.

"The handwriting on the wall," he said, "is as clear as a bell."

After the statement there was a brief conference abong the committee members.

"The committee," Chairman Healey announced, "has decided that the entire statement will be eliminated."

"How does that affect the press?" the general mildly inquired.

There was no answer.

STARTS WHITER—STAYS WHITER

New "TRUTONE" white paint Developed by C-I-L!

You've never seen an exterior paint so brilliantly white! It adds distinction . . . creates a whiter house, the envy of the neighbours. And in spite of smoke, dust or storm, C-I-L's new exclusive "Trutone" White keeps its beauty so much longer. Indeed it actually cleans itself . . . sheds dirt.

"Trutone" is a real triumph for C-I-L research — yet it costs you no more. In fact, this house paint is more economical. It hides better . . . and spreads better!

This year transform your home with this dazzling white finish. Specify "Trutone" White to your Master Painter. Make sure you get it. And whatever your paint job, see your C-I-L Dealer. He'll gladly show you how little it costs to do over your home with C-I-L finishes.

LUXURY DENIAL

CALGARY—Jewish women of Calgary who pledged to go without luxuries have collected $3,000 to help Jewish refugees in Europe, said Mrs. N. Zemans at the Calgary Council of Jewish Women meeting here.

To Change Jews' Names

ROME (AP)—The Fascist press indicated yesterday pressure might be brought on many Italian Jews to make them change their names. The Bologna newspaper Resto del Carlino asked why Jews should be permitted to bear the names of Italy's "glorious cities." Many Italian Jewish families adopted the names of Italian cities when they were compelled to take surnames centuries ago.

Speech Caused Bluff

TOKIO — The Japanese press Friday described as a "bluff" the statement of Soviet Russia's Foreign Commissar that the borders of Outer Mongolia would be defended.

The newspaper Yomiuri declared Vyacheslaff Molotoff, who gave the warning in an address to the Supreme Soviet Wednesday, had spoken "much differently" recently when discussing Manchukuo-Mongolian border fighting with Shigenori Togo, Japanese ambassador in Moscow.

The press generally interpreted Molotoff's speech as an effort to weaken the anti-Comintern pact.

MUCH HAS BEEN written about the recent death of Mick the Miller, the most famous track greyhound. Now we hear that Mick's body is in the hands of a taxidermist, and it will be decided shortly to which museum it will be offered. Sport followers on this continent have little conception of the immense popularity greyhound racing enjoys in Britain.

Mick the Miller's fame was nationwide, and many of his followers claim the most suitable place would be the Natural History Museum in Kensington, London, where he could be exhibited with the greatest coursing greyhound, Fullerton, the only dog to have won the Waterloo Cup, the blue riband of sport, four years in succession.

Keeping pace with the times the operators of dog tracks in England plan to install cameras to photo their finishes. Wembley Stadium will install the first apparatus to be used on any track in Britain. The system has been used successfully on many racetracks in Canada and the United States.

An attempt will be made shortly by a group of members of Parliament to get fair play for professional athletes in Britain. They hope to secure bigger pay for footballers, cricketers and jockeys; legislation of boxing, so as to enable trade union conditions to be applied to boxers.

Worst exploited of all professional sportsmen at present are Britain's 4,000 boxers, it is claimed. Sweated conditions, poor pay and unfair contracts are the lot of hundreds of fighters. Now they have found champions. Tall, fair-headed Harry Flower, secretary of the National Union of Boxers, has persuaded M.P.'s to prepare a bill making boxing legal. Ancient statutes make it a punishable offence to attend a public fight. Strictly speaking, anybody who watches a boxing match can be fined.

Not till the position is cleared up will boxers be able to organize and secure better wages and conditions.

"Not one boxer in 500 can ever save money for the day when fighting days are over," said Flower.

Soccer, biggest money magnet in sport, means poor money for the men who draw the crowds. Only the star players can hope to get £8 a week. Third division teams are often in a pitiful plight, players getting only £4 a week during the winter and £2 in the summer.

Cricket is just as bad, it is asserted. For less than five months in the year a first-class player gets about £12 a week, but in the winter he may have to struggle along on a £2-a-week retainer. Horse racing means money only for the top-rank jockeys like Gordon Richards, who earns £15,000 a year. The ordinary jockey has to rely on his £5 for a win and £3 for a losing race. Golf professionals on many of the smaller courses in England live on £2 a week.

Victoria Eleven Chosen To Meet Touring Scots Here Wednesday

Victoria's team to oppose the crack touring squad of the Scottish Football Association at the Athletic Park on Wednesday, starting at 6, was announced today by Jimmy Hall, manager of the local eleven.

Wally Rowe, crack net minder of the Victoria City team, has been chosen for the goalie position. The fullback berths will be handled by Arnie Wilkinson of the Garrison and Bobby Bell, Victoria West.

On the halfback line will be Cliff and Glen Robbins and George Leggett, all members of Victoria City. The last-named has been selected captain of the team.

On the reserve list are Louie DeCosta, Navy; Tony Hope, Saanich Thistles; Scotty Robinson, Victoria West; Eddie DeCosta, Navy, and Alan Reside, Spencers.

The match will be refereed by Tom Robb, with Scotty Dowds and Percy Shrimpton as linesmen.

"This is the best available club and the players are all in good shape," stated Manager Hall in announcing his line-up. "The boys will hold a final workout on Sunday afternoon at Bullen Park at 2.45."

AT NANAIMO TOMORROW

Scottish team will make its first appearance tomorrow at Nanaimo, engaging in a game scheduled to start at 5. On Monday night the Scots will play under the lights at Vancouver. Tuesday the tourists will come to Victoria for the game here Wednesday.

Charlie Lewis today announced the side to oppose the Victoria all-star club at Bullen Park Sunday as follows: Louie DeCosta, H. Sage, C. Cockerill, Fieldhouse, Stofer, Bradley, Roy Okell, Nip Sage, Scotty Robinson, Noel Morgan, Dallimore, Wyatt, Fogden, McBride and Holness. Players unable to turn out are asked to get in touch with Lewis at G 2917 or E 1416.

ARRIVE IN VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Scottish international football team, yet to taste defeat in their exhibition tour of Canada and the United States, arrived in Vancouver today for a four-game schedule in this Pacific province, home of many a Dominion championship eleven.

George Graham, secretary of the Scottish Football Association and manager of the 17 players, said the team was in fine condition. They had suffered no injuries in their five games so far, and their biggest impression of Canada was not its football teams but the amount of sunlight.

The team, which came closest to defeat in New York, where an all-star team held them to a 1 to 1 draw, will rest in Vancouver today before going to Nanaimo for their first British Columbia game tomorrow. They return here for a game June 5 and then go to Victoria for another game June 7. On June 10 they play against another Vancouver all-star team, before leaving for Regina that night.

Graham said opposition so far had been "rather weak." He hoped British Columbia teams

Langford Auto Races Tomorrow

Plans Completed for Fast-moving Program; American Drivers Signed

The track management of the Langford Speedway announced today that plans had been completed for the second international automobile racing meet of the season to be held tomorrow evening at 7.45.

An organized program has been drawn up to insure a fast-moving meet, officials said. There will be eight events on the program, time trials, helmet dash, four heat races, match race, one Canadian car and one American nearest the average time of the trials and a 20-lap main event.

Four cars have been signed up for the meet from Seattle and in all probability a fifth American car and pilot will be taking part. The four signed are Swede Linskog, No. 1 driver of the coast who will be behind the wheel of Glen Shaw's power plant, car No. 1; Lew McMurtrie, a dare-devil with a fast car, Ramsay and Taylor, two new-comers to the Langford track, but from reports, aces in this particular game.

Local cars have been overhauled and are reported to be in top shape for the meet. The locals will be headed by Bert Sutton at the wheel of car No. 1, owned jointly by himself and Jack Smith. Other drivers to be seen in action are Jimmy Laird, Digger Caldwell, George White, Jerry Vantreight, Fred Carson and Roy MacDonald. Carson will drive a new car owned by McDonald which was built in Duncan.

WARRINGTON AND WENSTOB IN DRAW

Canadian Heavyweight Championship Fight Ends in Stalemate

EDMONTON (CP) — Eddie Wenstob of Viking, Alta., and Terry "The Tiger" Warrington, Liverpool, N.S., negro, fought to a 15-round draw in a fight here last night that was billed as the Canadian championship. Wenstob weighed 174 and Warrington 175.

There were no knockdowns, although Wenstob went to his knees in the last round when he swung a wild right—and missed.

Expected to clear up the heavyweight and lightheavyweight picture in the Dominion, the bout only further complicated the situation, as neither was able to take a decided margin at any stage.

A crowd of about 3,200 saw Warrington force the fight most of the way, but the westerner had the edge in the long-range sparring.

Referee Jerry Delane of Edmonton voted for Wenstob, John Smith, one judge, for Warrington and Roy Haliburton, the other, called for a draw decision. Both judges are Edmonton residents. There was some booing when the decision was announced, but the cheers were just as loud, if not louder.

MANCHESTER, Eng. (CP) — Sir Abe Bailey's Maranta, a five-year-old horse by Solario from Mispec, today won the one and a-half-mile Manchester Cup handicap. Maranta was quoted at 7 to 1. Flyon, at 5 to 2, was second, three lengths behind, with Dragonnade, a 5-to-1 shot, third in the field of seven.

AS SCOTS WERE HELD TO TIE—Football headwork proved valuable when an all-star eleven of the American Soccer League battled to a 1 to 1 tie with a picked team of the Scottish Football Association at New York's Polo Grounds. Above, Barr (No. 8) of the Americans and Scotsman Archie Garrett (No. 13) both leap to head the ball. Lanky Garrett won, butting it for the Scots' lone score.

Story-book Finishes

Yankees, Cincinnati and Brooklyn Capture Thrilling Ball Games

In the won and lost columns it all looks the same, but there are two ways to break up an extra inning baseball game—power or science.

Both methods were demonstrated spectacularly yesterday. Cincinnati Reds, who have virtually surpassed New York Yankees as exponents of the power play, exploded five runs in the faces of Boston Bees to win 9 to 4 in the 13th inning. Brooklyn Dodgers downed Chicago Cubs 3 to 2 in their night game when Gene Moore tripled and stole home in the 14th.

There is no fault to be found with either system, but the Reds' way causes less fretting. They simply loaded the bases in the fourth overtime period and followed this up with a single by Will Hershberger and a home run by Harry Craft.

The Brooklyn Dodgers went in for more drama. They tossed in a triple play at midnight—which must be something new in the annals of baseball—and presented the victory to Vito Tamulis. Tamulis, fourth Brooklyn hurler, took over with the bases loaded in the ninth and worked effectively thereafter, passing his crisis in the 12th when the first two men singled and were erased by the triple killing. Attempting to bunt, Jim Gleeson topped to Harry Lavagetto, who trapped the ball and threw to Dolph Camilli at first. One runner was tagged, the base touched and the other runner nabbed between second and third.

The loss dropped Chicago into fourth place in the National League as Pittsburgh Pirates pounded the Phillies 5 to 2 in another night game and climbed into third place.

COAST LEAGUE

Sacramento Senators were "it" again today in their game of tag with Portland for the Pacific Coast League baseball cellar.

The Senators, who occupied the lower depths so long at the start of the season they thought they had a lease on the place, bounced down again last night by dropping a game to Seattle 8 to 3 as Portland whipped San Diego 4 to 1.

Los Angeles clung to its three-game advantage at the top of the loop, by beating Oakland 4 to 0, and San Francisco's Seals downed Hollywood 7 to 3.

Seattle, in second place three games behind the Angels, knocked over Sacramento at Seattle as Les Webber outpitched southpaw Tony Freitas for his sixth win of the season. Webber, who formerly played in the Vancouver City Senior League, gave up nine hits, but kept them well scattered, while the Suds whacked 12 off Freitas.

Bill Thomas, Portland right-hander, pitched and batted his club to victory at Portland. It was Thomas' eighth victory, and the third for the Ducks in the four games the two clubs have played this week.

Baer Didn't Know Round

Maxie Presents Sorry Sight in Dressing-room After Bout With Nova

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK (AP)—A badly-beaten, somewhat bewildered and dead tired Max Baer was half carried into his dressing-room and flopped wearily on a rubbing table. His handlers kindly told him he was beating Lou Nova when they stopped the fight in the 11th round, but they weren't kidding old Maxie. He wasn't clear as to what exactly happened, but he knew the end of the road had come for the erstwhile merry madcap.

"I just couldn't get going in there," he said. "I had him knocked out twice, but couldn't get in the finishing touch. I must have swallowed two gallons of blood. I was all choked up in the last few rounds."

Baer presented a sorry spectacle. Both eyes were almost closed. There was a bad cut on his lip. His body was red from Nova's steady fire of body punches.

Baer was so groggy he didn't know when the fight ended. "Did they stop it in the sixth or seventh?" he asked.

"I'm sorry so many guys lost dough on me, but I'm glad I went out on my feet. They can't say Maxie took a count on his back."

NOVA HAPPY

In sharp contrast to the gloom of the Baer quarters, joy reigned unconfined in the Nova dressing-room, two doors down the hall.

"Is the sound man ready?" the grinning Nova wanted to know as he stormed in accompanied by his admirers. Then he launched into an oration in which Baer was roundly congratulated "for his great showing" before promoter Mike Jacobs appeared and abruptly stopped the sound machines.

Except for a cut over the right eye, Nova was unmarked. Between slaps on the back, he shouted defiance to Joe Louis, Tony Galento and anyone else in sight.

"I'd have knocked him out sooner, but I hurt my right hand in the third," Nova said. "Max didn't hurt me with a single punch. At that, I believe he can hit as hard as Louis. Baer can really pour it in there with his right. This was my hardest fight, all right.

Nova and Baer will remain here a few days before returning to California.

Sets Boxla Scoring Mark

Jimmy Douglas Raps Home 12 Goals as Adanacs Whip North Shore 36 to 16

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—New Westminster Adanacs, Salmonbellies, their home-town rivals, and Vancouver Burrards, today are bunched at the top of the intercity box lacrosse league.

Last night, Adanacs, 1938's titlists, soundly trounced a weak North Shore Indian team, 36 to 16, here and climbed into first place with the other two teams.

Jimmy Douglas, 21-year-old home player for the Adanacs, established an all-time high scoring record for a single game and shot into top spot in the individual scoring race, when he rapped in 12 goals and assisted in four others. Added to his previous 22 points, Douglas has now 38 points, seven points above his nearest competitor, Ken Fetherston of Salmonbellies.

Douglas was second highest individual scorer in the league last season. He is well known for his keen eye in watching for a goalie's weak spot and found his mark last night when he turned the pressure on the Braves netminder, Henry Baker.

Adanacs marched into a 10 to 3 lead in the first quarter and advanced their total to 20, against eight for Indians at half-time.

The Royal City squad outscored Indians 6 to 3 in the third period and went on to rattle in another 10 while holding the Redmen to five in the last quarter.

Vic Guerrin topped Indian marksmen with four goals and one assist.

Max Pouring Blood When Bout Halted

California Scrapper Earns Title Bout With Louis or Galento

NEW YORK (AP) — Victor over Max Baer by a technical knockout in the 11th round of a bloody duel at Yankee Stadium, Lou Nova of California stands qualified today to fight either Joe Louis or Tony Galento for the heavyweight championship in September or early next summer.

The 24-year-old ex-collegian, fighting only his 27th professional bout, cut the ex-champion down steadily and methodically, last night until referee Frank Fullam stopped it in 1.21 of the 11th when Baer was choked and unable to continue from the blood that poured from a lacerated lip.

Almost 17,000 fans saw Nova survive Baer's thunderous rights in the early rounds and come back to give him a cruel beating. Baer bled like a stuck hog from the third round on.

Nova, his left ear blooming like an eggplant from Baer's despairing rights, said in the dressing room he would have stopped his rival clean as a whistle if he had not hurt his right hand in the third round. Maxie, looking and feeling terrible, said he didn't know whether he ever would fight again. At the same time he mumbled a warning to Nova.

"He's a good, strong boy, but he's a long way off. He gets hit too much."

NOT READY YET

His listeners nodded agreement. Must of them felt that Lou, though he made a game, damaging fight against Baer, is not quite ready to face the dynamite blasts of Joe Louis.

From the start, the fight was a rip-tearing, brutal exhibition. There was no feeling-out. They

He played under Pop Anson for the old Chicago Colts, went to the Boston Nationals in 1892 for nine seasons. In 1895 he set the batting mark of .438 which still stands as a record. After retiring from the active list, Duffy managed Milwaukee, Philadelphia, Providence and the Chicago Red Sox. In 1921 he succeeded Ed Barrow as Red Sox manager. In 1923 he was assigned to the Red Sox scouting staff where he remained till this spring.

NOVA HANDS BAER CRUEL BEATING IN 11 ROUNDS

went right at it, slugging and grunting and scowling, hitting on the breaks and after the bell. The referee took two round from Nova for hitting low and one from Maxie when he clouted Lou after the bell.

At the end of 10 rounds the Associated Press score sheet gave Nova six and Max four. During the ninth and 10th rounds Nova hit his tired distressed rival almost at will, smashing his bloody features with both hands. Fullam wanted to stop it earlier in the 11th, but Maxie refused the reprieve and took a dozen more blows before he consented to retire.

The fight really was decided in the second, when Baer lashed out with his famous right and caught Nova cold with a half dozen in fast succession. That was when Baer's followers had expected the bout to end. Nova wobbled and staggered a bit, but he stuck to his feet and came back fighting.

ROCKED NOVA

In Baer's other good round, the sixth, he again rocked the youngster with a series of rights, once almost spilling him. Yet again the kid shook them off and at the end was jabbing away at Maxie's jumbled features with his long left.

In the long run, it was Nova's left, delivered with all his 202 pounds behind it, that ruined Baer's comeback.

The occasional right that he crossed seemed to shake Baer, but never threatened to put him down. After last night it's clear Nova is no knockout artist, though the punishment he handed out might have forced Baer to quit in the last few rounds even had Max's lip not been cut.

Promoter Mike Jacobs was mad as a wet hen about the skimpy crowd that turned out and still was threatening to send the Louis-Galento fight to another city, perhaps Philadelpiha. He blamed the World's Fair for holding the gross gate to $82,364.

Nearly the entire life of the cicada, or common locust, is spent underground.

King Congratulates P.P.C.L.I. Escort

Motorcycle Guard Finest Of Its Kind in Canada, He Tells Commander

The motorcycle escort of 10 scarlet-coated officers and men who rode before and around the Royal car on all its drives through Victoria was the finest of its kind in Canada, King George personally told the commanding officer of the escort, Captain Reginald L. Mitchell of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

His Majesty summoned Captain Mitchell into Government House when the Royal party returned from the naval ceremony in Beacon Hill Park, congratulated him on the smartness of his men and chatted with him for some time.

Captain Mitchell and one subaltern rode on twin-cylinder machines with the mudguards and tank panels painted a deep red matching that of the Royal car. The eight other other men were mounted on identical silver, chromium and black machines.

The escort's performance was the more creditable because its members have had no military motorcycle training and several had never ridden British machines, the controls of which are entirely different from those of their own United States-built cycles.

MARKET BRISK FOR SMALL PROPERTIES

Indicative of the continued trend in Victoria towards purchase of home sites, land sales for the city during April were almost double the number of those for the same month last year, although values were considerably below those of 1938.

During April last year, 35 properties worth a total of $226,143 were sold. Last April, 67 found purchasers who paid a gross $110,065.

Transfers in April of this year amounted to $157,123, while during the same period last year they were $86,876. Changes in ownership through wills and probates were $44,695 and in April last year, $66,375.

The total value of all properties which changed hands the month before last was $311,883 against $379,384 in April 1938.

GIRL ARRESTED IN KIDNAP CASE

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A blonde, 21-year-old girl arrested on a charge of kidnapping five-month-old Gerald McCrohan from his carriage was quoted by Detective George Myers today as saying she took the child to replace her own who died.

The officer said the girl was unwed. Booked as Beatrice Wood, she told this story of the abduction after her arrest this morning with a man Myers found with the missing boy.

A son was born to her last March. He died, but she kept the news from its father.

When he demanded to see the boy, she stole baby Gerald from his carriage while his mother shopped in a butcher store, went to the father and told him the child was theirs.

Trooping the Color

LONDON (CP)—Traffic in the vicinity of the Horse Guards' Parade is being held up these days while the Guards, in full dress, rehearse the trooping of the colors ceremony to be staged June 8 when the King's birthday is observed officially here.

LONDON (CP)—Three Royal Air Force fliers were killed today when their plane crashed at Canby Corner, near Hemswell, Lincolnshire. They were Pilot Officer H. S. James, Sergeant H. Killock and Aircraftsman D. E. Shimmin.

Continue Gains On City Lands

Revenue for Last Month More Than Double That of May, 1938

Possibility of concerted action to rehabilitate lower Johnson Street was discussed at the City Hall today as figures from the lands department disclosed exceptional gains in revenue from properties formerly held by Victoria in different parts of the city.

Returns reported by the lands department for the month of May were more than double those of the same month last year.

For May alone receipts amounted to $10,004.32, against $4,116.69 for the 1938 month Since the beginning of the year $74,479.60 has been realized from city property, against $30,900.71 at May 31, 1938. Actual sales last month yielded $7,825, against $4,076.14 during May last year. They raised to $45,865.55 the revenue from that department since January 1. During the first five months of 1938 sales amounted to $20,562. During that period 53 parcels were sold and five exchanged, while this year 85 have been sold and one traded.

Should the city proceed with its efforts to rehabilitate Johnson Street, the Jubilee Hotel may be improved to provide modern store facilities on the ground floor of the building which is close to the Government Street intersection.

Wholesale Row Business Drops

Wholesale Row officials reported today that business was exceptionally lax following a most busy session prior to the visit of Their Majesties to the city.

Considerable local produce is on the market at the present time. Local strawberries and gooseberries have been received in large quantities, also plenty of local lettuce and asparagus.

New on the market are Yakima cherries. Shipments are being received at regular intervals. Yesterday shipments of Valencia unwrapped oranges, grapefruit, lemons, lettuce and celery were received from California. A carload of new potatoes was received today. Shipments of cantaloupes are arriving daily.

TOWN TOPICS

A moderate earthquake was recorded on the seismograph at Gonzales Observatory at 7.47 last night. The distance from Victoria was estimated at 7,500 miles in an undetermined direction. Tremors continued for one hour.

A request was made by leaders of the St. John Ambulance Brigade to volunteers who worked during the Royal Visit period to return haversacks and water bottles to the brigade's headquarters, 717 Courtney Street, without delay.

A request for assistance in financing the construction of a community hall for the less fortunate of the Metchosin area is contained in a letter from Mary P. Jennings, secretary-treasurer of the Metchosin Hall Committee, received today at the City Hall.

The First Battalion of the Canadian Scottish Regiment will proceed to Heals Rifle Range on Sunday for the purpose of carrying out musketry. Buses will leave the Bay Street Armoury at 9.30, and lunch will be provided. Dress will be service dress with aprons.

The City Fire Department has enlisted the aid of the police department in an effort to locate persons who have started another series of false alarms. Last night the fire trucks answered eight alarms in various parts of the city, some of which were given in box calls and others by telephone. Another false call was received this morning by telephone.

QUICK SURGE IN CITY BUILDING

During the last two days building activity in the city showed a pronounced upswing with two homes, one lumber shed, a warehouse and store project being listed by the city building inspector's department. Total values for the undertakings amounted to $12,170.

Scott and Peden were given papers for a warehouse and office at 507 Cormorant Street at a listed cost of $1,200. Douglas McDougall was granted a permit for a $3,270 five-room home at 1325 Fairfield Road. Ker and Stephenson Ltd. were granted a permit for stores on the ground floor of 1620 Government Street. Cameron Lumber Co. Ltd. started a $4,000 dry lumber shed at 355 Garbally Road, and another home permit was issued for a five-room dwelling valued at $3,000 at 410 Vancouver Street.

Permanent B.C. Post For Dr. H. B. King

The position of Dr. H. B. King, technical adviser to the government on educational reorganization and curriculum revision, has been made a permanent post, Hon. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education, said today.

Dr. King has resigned his position as principal of Kitsilano senior and junior high schools in Vancouver, from which he was given leave of absence.

Dr. King was engaged by the government a few years ago to act as technical adviser and direct the redrafting of curriculum for provincial schools. He was selected from his Vancouver post for this purpose.

The process of revision of the school work has been a continuous one since that time. Adjustments are bing made as the need arises. Dr. Weir said Dr. King will also deal with supervision of school inspection and the general co-ordination of educational work in the province.

Several Forest Camps On Island

Summer camps for single unemployed will be opened at several points on Vancouver Island, relief department officials said today.

The men are being shipped to camp this week as fast as their registrations are complete and by tonight about 425 will be in quarters.

Among other points island camps will be located at Elk Falls, Koksilah, Stamp Falls and the Medicine Bowls near the Forbidden Plateau.

In addition to these special camps will be opened for returned men at Englishman's River, Little Qualicum River and at the Peace Arch Park near Blaine.

Long Terms for Theft of Auto

Arthur Bardsley was sentenced to two years and Alfred Simpson to one year by Magistrate Hall in the City Police Court this morning, on a charge of stealing an automobile.

Bardsley and Simpson, charged jointly with the crime, were convicted during a hearing yesterday of stealing the machine, which was owned by Oswald Hoyt.

Have More Fun; Share Your Pleasures

(Copyright, 1939, NEA Service, Inc.)

Yvonne holds tight to the teddy bear her Quint sister Annette would like to play with, to show you how the selfish little Teddy Bear Girl acted before she learned to share her pleasures.

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

IT IS the best thing in the whole wide world to let other people enjoy our things. And if we expect them to be kind and share their joys with us, we have to do it, too. That is fair, don't you think so?

One time a little girl wanted to play with her sister's Teddy Bear. And her sister said, "No, that is my bear. I need him myself."

So the other little girl went off and played with her dolly. And after a while her sister said, "I wish I could play with your dolly. She looks so smiley and sweet. May I play with her?"

THE DOLLY GIRL said, "Of course. Here she is. I am glad you like her." Which was being generous. And then suddenly the Teddy Bear Girl thought, "I can't be selfish when my sister is so good." So she went and got her Teddy and said, "Here, you can play with him whenever you want."

Everyone feels so much better when she is kind. Besides it makes people like us. And that is the way to make friends.

Firemen Give Smart Display

Spectacular Demonstration of Work Presented By Victoria Department

Victoria's firemen, who accept many of the hazards of circus performers as part of a day's work, demonstrated their spectacular routine to crowds who thronged the Market Square today. The show was the second of two put on by the department to acquaint the public with the operations of the local brigade.

Featuring drills with the aerial ladder which the department acquired last year, heavy water lines and the regular procedure of their jobs, the men brought rounds of applause from the assembled citizens.

Work on Pompier (scaling) laders opened the show as certain crews raced up the tower walls on the equipment. Others manned the aerial ladder operated by the truck companies. The spectators watched the men slide down their ropes both singly and with "rescued" bodies. Pole extension ladder drill, smoke mask all-service and dummy carrying routine, smoke air hose and two-men carry procedure, resuscitation and inhalator drill and a demonstration of the fireman's lift completed the first phase of the program.

Speedy coupling and laying of lines, with the despatch and technique of a highly trained crew, won praise for the hose company.

In an impressive display other men set up five lines of regular service water from the training tower and other points. Another crew set heavy streams in play from the top of the aerial ladder, the deck gun on the pumper and from a deluge set.

Stability of the personnel was inadvertantly illustrated as Doug Adams on the deck gun brought his stream directly onto Alex McDonald, atop the aerial. The heavy streams swept completely across the market square in a powerful cascade.

While different types of cellar nozzles, used to combat fire from the floor above were brought into play on an improvised basement, the aerial crew revolved, raised and lowered the big aerial ladder to demonstrate its flexibility. As another feature of the aerial work the truck was driven close to the police station and a "rescue" made from one of the upper windows.

The event closed with a bouncing display of jumping from the second story windows of the station into the fire net.

Directing activties under Fire Chief Alex Munro were Deputy Joe Raymond, Captain J. Russell and Lieutenant J. Crowther.

Members of the city fire wardens attended the display with other representatives from the City Hall.

VISIT RECORDS TO BE PRESERVED

Documents of Royal Welcome Go Into Archives

Plans are being made to preserve as complete a record as possible in the provincial archives of the Royal Visit to British Columbia.

The formal documents of welcome will be preserved, as well as the King's replies. These include the government's illuminated address and the reply which the King signed personally.

Text of the speech delivered by the King at the state luncheon in the Empress Hotel will be filed, along with Premier Pattullo's introductory remarks.

The two chairs placed for the King and Queen in the Legislative Chamber for the presentations will be preserved as mementoes of the occasion. They were manufactured locally by the Public Works Department and carved by a Vancouver Island man.

SYDNEY MOSELEY NOTED VISITOR

British Journalist and Critic Introduced Television in Britain

Sydney A. Moseley, author, journalist and radio critic, who was instrumental in introducing television in Great Britain, and first to broadcast speech and vision simultaneously, arrived at the Empress Hotel yesterday from London.

Chairman and managing editor of the Television Press Ltd. and founder and first president of the Broadcast Critics Circle, Mr. Moseley is a journalist of wide repute.

Among his other firsts, he edited the first English daily published in Cairo, Egypt, where he conducted a world-wide campaign against the Capitulations; he was Cairo correspondent of the New York Times, Paris Daily Mail and the London Central News, and has been special correspondent for the Daily Express, Evening News and Sunday Express and he originated the new type of local journalism by founding and editing the Southend Times and contested Southend-on-Sea as Labor's first candidate. Mr. Moseley is also noted for his investigation of the British prison system and the Borstal institutions.

"I blazed the trail for Their Majesties and gave broadcasts from Ottawa, Toronto and Winnipeg," said Mr. Moseley. "I also spoke over the U.S. networks, giving my impressions as a tenderfoot.

All over the continent Mr. Moseley has been interviewed over the air and has given talks on the international situation.

"I thought I could get away from you fellows in Victoria, but I find I was mistaken," he said when cornered.

Mr. Moseley is so infatuated with Victoria that he contemplates settling here in the future."

PARLIAMENT ENDS LABORS TOMORROW

OTTAWA (CP)—Prorogation tomorrow afternoon became a probability when the House of Commons adjourned today to await the Senate's disposal of the Salt Fish Board bill and the Central Mortgage Bank bill.

As soon as the Mortgage Bank bill was given third reading, and third reading was also given the general supply bill, Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, moved adjournment of the House until 3 Saturday afternoon. The Senate would deal with the Mortgage Bank bill this afternoon and tomorrow morning, he said.

INJUNCTION HALTS MILK MARKETING

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Court of Appeal today granted an injunction to W. A. Hayward and several milk distributors to halt inauguration of a proposed clearing house milk marketing scheme pending the outcome of an appeal against a Supreme Court judgment ruling the scheme legal.

The appeal is to be argued before the Court of Appeal this month.

The interim injunction, second granted since the Lower Mainland Dairy Products Board set up the milk producers' clearing house co-operative to inaugurate the clearing house milk marketing scheme, halts operation of the proposed scheme until the appeal is heard.

DIED

FRANCIS—After a very short illness at St. Joseph's Hospital there passed away, May 29, Rebecca Isabel Francis of 417 Vancouver Street. The late Mrs. Francis was born in Gorleston, Norfolk, England, and had resided in this city for a number of years. She is survived by her husband, William, and three daughters, Mrs. S. Roberts, Mayfair Apartments; Mrs. E. B. Roberts, 1029 McClure Street, and Mrs. H. E. Griffiths, Vancouver, B.C.
Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, from the parlors of the S. J. Curry & Son Funeral Home. Rev. A. E. O. Hendy will officiate and interment will take place in Royal Oak Burial Park.

MILLER—At Royal Jubilee Hospital on June 1, 1939, Miss Elizabeth Jane Miller, aged 78 years; born in London, England, and a resident of Victoria for about 30 years. The deceased had been residing with Dr. and Mrs. P. H. Paterson of 1002 Carberry Gardens. She is survived by a sister in Bournemouth, England, and a brother in Java. The remains are reposing in Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel and funeral announcement will be made later.

IN MEMORIAM

TARGETT—In loving memory of Winifred Eldridge Targett, who passed away June 2, 1937.
Today recalls the memory
Of a loved one gone to rest;
And those who think of her today
Are those who loved her best.
The flowers we lay upon her grave
May wither and decay;
But the love for her who lies beneath
Will never fade away.
—Remembered by her brother, sister, grandmother, aunt and cousin.

SAWDUST

SAWDUST

In order to supply our high-grade Selkirk Sawdust and satisfy all our customers with the best fuel produced in Victoria, we need the co-operation of all our customers and others who want the best.

At the present time the mills are running at full speed, but in two months from now they might all be closed. Order your Sawdust now on a monthly basis.

Our Selkirk Sawdust is being produced from Campbell River logs, which gives more heat and less trouble than any Sawdust we can buy.

Order the best from a reliable firm. We have sold Sawdust for 10 years and will only contract for the best supply.

LONG-INTERRUPTED PRACTICE REVIVED—Pope Pius XII is shown blessing the crowd as he left the Vatican a few days ago to take formal possession of his parish church of St. John Lateran. This interesting ceremonial had not been carried out during the previous 90 years, since the beginning of the strife between Church and State that resulted in the Pope becoming "the prisoner of the Vatican."

Many Scots in Crew Of Royal Liner

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng. (CP)—Workers swarmed over the liner Empress of Britain today completing preparations for her departure tomorrow for Canada to bring back the King and Queen.

A survey of the Empress crew signed on for the Royal voyage showed there are numerous Scots in the list. The Scottish Queen's stewardess will be C. B. Collas, who has a distinguished record for service with the Scottish section of the Women's Royal Navy Service. Both Capt. C. H. Sapsworth of the Empress and Staff-Capt. Ben Grant are Scots.

CRUISER REPORT

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — H.M.S. Glasgow reached Saint John today from New York for a week's visit before sailing for Halifax to resume her assignment as convoy ship to the King and Queen on their return voyage to Great Britain at the end of their North American tour, June 15.

'The Gorilla' At Dominion
Laughs and Chills As Ritz Bros. Do Bit of Sleuthing

The Ritz Brothers have turned detectives and you'll have the time of your life watching these three half-wit Hawkshaws tracking down a weird man-killing beast in "The Gorilla," the 20th Century-Fox screen version of the famous stage hit, which breezed into the Dominion Theatre yesterday.

The action takes place in a house that is a maze of sliding panels. The time is something close to midnight—in the midst of a raging thunderstorm. The host, Lionel Atwill, has just received a note from "The Gorilla" threatening him with murder at midnight!

The Ritz Brothers are ably aided and abetted in this merry mystery by Anita Louise, as Atwill's niece; Patsy Kelly, as the panicky maid-of-all-work; Bela Lugosi, as the slinky butler; Joseph Calleia, as a skulking stranger; Edward Norris, as Anita's sweetheart; and Wally Vernon, as a roving sailor.

Edward Robinson In Nazi Spy Role

A story that is based on facts unearthed by the secret service, "Confessions of a Nazi Spy," provides thrilling entertainment for Capitol Theatre patrons when it opens tomorrow.

Edward G. Robinson is in the key role as an F.B.I. man who uncovers the trail of the spy ring and succeeds in breaking up its nefarious game.

There are some very realistic shots in the filming, said to be taken from actual scenes during the trials of Nazi spies.

Action of the picture is well sustained by the supporting cast which includes Lya Lys, who plays the part of the spys' decoy; Francis Lederer as the informer, Paul Lukas and Henry O'Neill.

Carole Lombard In Plaza Picture

Religious treasures dating back to the middle ages appear on the screen in a chapel scene of the David O. Selznick production, "Made for Each Other," starring Carole Lombard and James Stewart, showing Monday at the Plaza Theatre.

The scene shows a chapel in a Catholic hospital, in which Miss Lombard, playing a straight dramatic role instead of comedy, kneels to pray. Attention naturally centers on the star, but for the sake of authenticity and heightened dramatic effects, the set itself, though serving only as a background, meant days of work to the set decorator, Edward G. Boyle.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

Bob Baker, star of Universal's romantic drama "Western Trails," which is now at the Columbia Theatre, was a guide one summer at the Grand Canyon.

A visitor at the canyon was Trem Carr, famous producer.

"You'll be in pictures some day, young man," Carr said.

Carr's prophesy came true. A few summers later Baker was making pictures for Universal studios.

ATLAS THEATRE

Often called a movie queen by fans and reviewers, Gloria Stuart really gets her chance in such a role and turns up as the Queen of France in 20th Century-Fox's musical comedy version of Alexandre Dumas' "The Three Musketeers," now at the Atlas Theatre.

Miss Stuart is featured with Binnie Barnes, Pauline Moore and Joseph Schildkraut in the picture, which stars Don Ameche and The Ritz Brothers, Allan Dwan directed "The Three Musketeers."

PLAZA THEATRE

As a mountain girl fighting to bring modern medical practices into her backwoods community, Beverly Roberts appears in support of Jack Holt at the Plaza Theatre, where "The Strange Case of Dr. Meade" is being screened. The new Columbia film supporting cast includes Noah Beery Jr., John Qualen and Helen Jerome Eddy.

OAK BAY THEATRE

"Grand Illusion," starring Eric von Stroheim, is the current feature at the Oak Bay Theatre this week, with both matinee and evening performances. It is a prison camp story of the war, based on the director's own experience.

COMEDY THRILLER—The Ritz Brothers are three demented dicks on the trail of "The Gorilla" in 20th Century-Fox's picture of that title, now at the Dominion Theatre—and it looks as if they've found him!

WOOLWORTH YACHT HERE ON CRUISE

The American steam yacht Noparo will hoist anchor off the outer wharf late today and proceed to Vancouver to pick up her owner, Norman Woolworth of F. W. Woolworth & Co. Limited, who is taking a party of guests on a cruise to Alaska.

Capt. E. Fluhr brought the Noparo out to this coast from New York, the craft having cleared from New York May 1 via Panama, with calls at California ports and Seattle before coming on to Victoria.

Mr. Woolworth and his party are expected to arrive in Vancouver over the week-end.

The palatial clipper-bowed yacht, which anchored between Ogden Point and Brotchie Ledge, is manned by a crew of 45 men.

320 Aboard Monowai

Replacing the Aorangi while she is being overhauled at Sydney, the Canadian Australasian liner Monowai, Capt. Arthur T. Toten, made port from the Antipodes at 7.30 last night with 320 passengers in all classes. Over 100 of the passengers disembarked here for United States points. The ship proceeded shortly before midnight for Vancouver.

SS. COLDBROOK WAS PICKETED

Longshoremen at Bellingham Refused To Pass Picket Line

BELLINGHAM, Wash. (AP)—A. E. Harding, secretary of the Washington council of the Maritime Federation of the Pacific, said a picket line was established around the municipal wharf when longshoremen were called to work the freighter Coldbrook.

Forty-eight longshoremen reporting for work returned to their hall when they were met by a picket line of 42 maritime workers. There was no disturbance.

The ship, bound for Seattle from Baltimore to establish the new Oriental Line, is a centre of controversy between the Maritime Federation and the Maritime Commission over the commission's announced policy of hiring men to work the ship from lists kept by the shipping commissioners.

Members of west coast unions demand seamen for the new service be hired through union halls.

Royal Liner World's Largest Cruise Ship

When Their Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth end their Canada-United States visit by stepping up the gangplank of the Canadian Pacific flagship Empress of Britain at Halifax, June 15, they will board the largest and fastest liner plying between ports of the British Empire. Here are a few facts which give some impression of the 42,500-ton vessel's dimensions:

Each of the Britain's three buff-colored smokestacks is large enough to act as a railway tunnel with double track.

The ballroom has 2,800 square feet of perfect dance floor.

The Britain's enormous rudder and stock comprise steel forgings weighing 65 tons, covered on either side by steel plating.

Launched in 1930 by H.R.H. Prince of Wales, now Duke of Windsor, the Empress of Britain is the world's largest world cruise ship.

The ship's propellers are cast in solid bronze. Each inboard propeller is over 19 feet in diameter, weighs 25 tons and turns at 150 revolutions per minute.

Total length of her boiler tubing is over 100 miles.

AUSTRALIAN RADIO DIRECTOR ON TOUR

To investigate radio musical programs on the North American continent and in Europe and make a survey of possible talent for Australian air programs, W. G. James, musical director for the Australian Broadcasting Commission, reached Victoria from Sydney last night aboard the liner Monowai.

Mr. James said the principle of a national broadcasting commission is a definite success in Australia.

In Australia the commission has proved itself capable of providing the finest programs and its efforts had the approval of Australian radio audiences.

The Australian Radio Commission was organized seven years ago and it is importing as many as ten world-famous musicians annually to go on the Australian network. This policy, said Mr. James, has resulted in a definite uplift in the quality of music demanded by Australian radio audiences.

Mr. James is flying south to Los Angeles and plans to return here within two weeks to cross Canada to Montreal. Later he will spend two months in the United States, from where he will go on to Europe.

Through Travelers

Among the passengers reaching here by the Monowai, inbound from Australia, were A. Ball, connected with the tea industry, Calcutta, India; Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Semmons, the former being Canadian representative of Davis Gelatine (Australia) Limited; James McIntyre, Australian delegate to Rotary convention, Cleveland, Ohio; Canon F. D. Newham, M.A., and W. J. Dyment, New Zealand representative for Canadian National Railways.

WOMEN'S ARMY WARS ON CANCER

NEW YORK—Medical men directing the fight against cancer have been surprised at the amount and kind of assistance the Women's Field Army against cancer has brought to the front. This is apparent from remarks made when the American Society for the Control of Cancer awarded its distinguished service medals to four leaders in the women's army.

New mental capital to advance the fight on cancer is being accumulated, as a result of enlistment of the women, and this capital "should have some results in material contributions to help carry on and finance the war," Dr. Bowman C. Crowell, associate director of the American College of Surgeons, said.

The women in the Field Army are not only working to teach other women, and men too, the value of early diagnosis and treatment in fighting cancer. They are also working to make facilities for such diagnosis and treatment available in as many communities as possible.

"The women in the Field Army, like the rest of us," Dr. Crowell said, "are thinking now in concrete terms—provision of fellowships for advanced study for physicians, endowments for research, experimental and clinical, establishment of cancer clinics, cancer control legislation, cancertariums, similar to planeteriums, in which instruction on cancer can be given the layman; course on cancer for teachers and ministers, co-ordination of cancer research, cancer research institutes and institutes of biology of human cancer.

"Working through the medical profession, the Women's Field Army can be instrumental in helping to bring these projects to realization, for its members are closer to the public than are most professional workers. They can convey the idea that the dollar contributed to cancer research and cancer education goes a rather long way and performs a more important function than do most dollars."

Women receiving the distinguished service medals were: Mrs. H. B. Ritchie, Athens, Georgia state commander of the army; Mrs. Harry W. Smith, Durham, New Hampshire commander; Mrs. Gustav Ketterer, Germantown, Pennsylvania Commander; Mrs. Frederick H. Clausen, Horican, Wisconsin commander, and Dr. Anna C. Palmer, Milton, Mass., 82-year-old president of the Cured Cancer Club.

Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP)—Moderate selling prompted by weakness at Chicago and reports of rain in sections of the spring and winter wheat areas of United States and also in parts of western Canada dropped wheat futures prices more than a cent on Winnipeg grain exchange today. Closing quotations were ⅜ to 1⅛ cents lower, July 64½, October 65½ to 65⅝ and November and December 66¾.

Another bearish factor was private estimate on the United States winter wheat yield, which were higher than expected. A small export business in Canadian wheat was reported.

Liverpool declined ⅜ to ½d. Buenos Aires was unchanged most of the session.

Yesterday's country marketings reached 168,000 bushels against 69,000 bushels for the same day a year ago.

Apart from a small export inquiry for the top northern grades, cash wheat transactions were quiet.

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat prices dropped a cent a bushel today and then recovered about half of the loss before trading ended.

Crop experts reduced their estimates of United States winter wheat production. The figures, however, were about in line with trade expectations, and the total indicated 1939 harvest of 700,000,000 bushels was slightly above normal annual domestic consumption.

Early Gains Reduced

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market experienced difficulty in keeping an early rally going today and extreme gains, running to a point or more in the forenoon, were substantially reduced or erased at the close.

Transfers for the five hours were around 400,000 shares, or about two-thirds of yesterday's aggregate.

Foreign markets felt better all around U.S. government loans pushed upward in the bond department, some to record peaks. Commodities were mixed.

Ahead the greater part of the day — several eventually gave ground—were U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, McCrory Stores, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, American Telephone, Anaconda, Union Carbide, Westinghouse, Phillip Morris, Johns-Manville, N.Y. Central, Zenith Radio, Dunhill International and Pathe.

Edging ahead in the Canadian group were C.P.R., Dome and International Nickel. Dominion 4s were neglected.

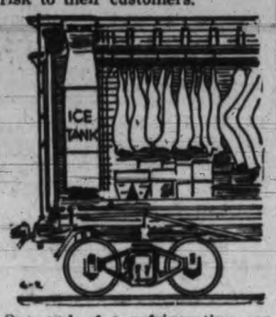
Safety Through Cooking

We who live in this century may be thankful for many things, and not the least is the care taken about our meat supply. People in the better-civilized countries can buy meats which have been inspected by experts.

This does not mean that all meats served in our land are safe for food, but it does mean that most of our meat supply is watched over with care. When farmers butcher their own livestock, they take a risk, and when butchers sell meat which has not been well inspected, they pass the risk to their customers.



One end of a refrigerating car.

One good thing about the handling of modern meat is the rule that it must be kept cold while in transport. Raw meat will spoil quickly if it is not kept cold. Even cooked meat should be kept in a refrigerator where it will be cold and safe from flies.

Some persons suppose they can eat underdone meat with safety if it has been inspected. This is a false idea. The inspectors cannot guard against all possible dangers, and they, themselves, warn people to cook meats well.

When meat packers do their work properly, they heat or cook ready-to-eat sausages at least to the point where trichina worms are killed. This is helpful, but it has nothing to do with raw meats.

We already have spoken about the need to cook pork thoroughly. Experts say the cook should give "30 minutes to the pound." This would mean two and a half hours of cooking for a five-pound pork roast.

We should not, however, fancy that pork is the only meat which is to be cooked with care.

Beef, as well as pork, can carry the tapeworm. In fact, beef tapeworms are longer and larger. A pork tapeworm may grow to be from six to 12 feet long, but beef tapeworms sometimes reach a length of from 16 to 20 feet.

Although tapeworms get to be very long, they are narrow and thin. They were given their name because of a shape something like that of a tape-measure. They are not, however, nearly as wide as a tape-measure.

The tapeworms are in tiny form when eaten in meat. They grow to their great length after they reach the intestines of people. The largest of all kinds of tapeworms is spread to people by the eating of poorly cooked fish. It may grow to a length of from 22 to 25 feet.

Meat inspectors guard people against tapeworms as well as they can, and do a great deal of good by condemning meat which is "measled" with them. Yet the tapeworm may pass by the guard, and the safe way is to eat meat and fish only when they are well cooked.

SIDE GLANCES By George Clark

"That's my doctor. Since I bought this boat, he has sent me on three long cruises for my health."

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I am engaged to a young man who, in my opinion, thinks too much about clothes. He himself is always dressed up to the minute and as neat as a pin. His suit is always pressed, his shoes shined, his tie just so and fresh-looking. Now this boy has only a moderate salary and I know that he denies himself many pleasures in order to be always well dressed. What do you think of a boy being so clothes-conscious as all that?

ALICE.

Answer: Well, if I were a girl engaged to that kind of a boy, I would be getting ready to climb with him, for, believe me, he is going somewhere in the world. The dowdy and slouchy sneer at clothes and say that you shouldn't judge a man by his coat, but I don't know anything that is a surer index to anyone's character than the way they dress. Anyway, the outside of a stranger is all that we see and all we have to rate him by.

No doubt there is many a great brain under a hat that looks like something the cat brought in, and many a heart of gold beats under a greasy coat that has apparently been used as a soup strainer, but they don't get a chance to show what is in them if they make you feel like handling them with tongs instead of clasping them to your bosom.

Certainly a man's clothes are a pretty good index of what he is. If he isn't clean, if his hair isn't cut, if he isn't shaved, he is lazy. If his clothes are ill-chosen and swear at each other, he lacks judgment and taste. If he has on new clothes that are out of fashion, he doesn't keep up with the times. If his tie isn't well tied, he is no good at detail. And so and so on. You can write your own ticket after one good look at a man and it won't be far wrong.

And it is the same way with women. A woman may get her religion from her church, her politics from her husband or father, her conversation from the Current Events Club, but her clothes are her own. And any young man can make a pretty accurate guess as to what sort of a wife a girl will make by seeing how she dresses.

If she wears soiled collars, she will make a sloppy housekeeper. If she dresses beyond her means, she will keep her husband in debt. If her shoes are run over at the heels, she is lazy and thriftless. If she dresses inappropriately and goes marketing in a chiffon, she lacks judgment and will never make a good manager.

But, on the contrary, if she is always spick-and-span and has on the right clothes for the right moment, and if she can look like a million dollars in a basement bargain, she will make the kind of wife whose price is above rubies.

HOROSCOPE

Saturday, June 3, 1939

Astrology holds this as a fairly fortunate day in planetary direction. The morning is promising to industry and presages better relations with employees.

This is an auspicious date for conferences, for seeking the advice of elders in family matters and for consultation with persons of experience.

The stars encourage constructive thinking which inspires progressive activity. Positive attitudes of mind should be cultivated.

Women are subject to adverse planetary aspects not encouraging to romance. The week-end may be disappointing to flirtatious girls.

For those who seek recreation in brief trips there is a mildly encouraging direction of the stars. Expenses may be heavier than anticipated.

Business will be more profitable today if shop doors are closed. Small returns may be expected by merchants. Manufacturers may meet new problems affecting commerce.

British statesmen in widely separated parts of the empire may suffer from illness or accident. Extreme care in diet should be exercised. The death of a prominent Englishman in India is foretold.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of steady progress and satisfactory income. These subjects of Gemini will benefit by systematizing their financial affairs.

Children born on this day probably will be idealists with a good share of practical common sense. Many subjects of this sign are endowed with psychic powers.

Priest Coming Here

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Ordination services for Roman Catholic religious orders will be conducted by Bishop John T. Kidd, in services here tonight and tomorrow.

Those whose will be raised to the priesthood include:

For the diocese of Victoria, B.C., Rev. Alexander MacDonald, Hamilton.

For the diocese of Nelson, B.C., Rev. Edward C. Doyle, London.

Reich Stated Facing Economic Ruin

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Dr. Richard Maresch, exiled Austrian educationist, speaking before the London Conference of the United Church, told delegates that with neither money nor natural resources, "Germany is economically ruined."

Making his first appearance on a public platform since he came to Canada, Dr. Maresch last night said that in annexing Austria, Chancellor Hitler had "found something easy to swallow but hard to digest."

MORTGAGE BANK BILL PASSED

Last-minute Attack Made On Measure in House of Commons

OTTAWA (CP)—The House of Commons late today gave third reading to the central mortgage bank bill. The bill was approved on division after brief debate on extensive amendments proposed by the Commons' banking and commerce committee.

Hon. C. H. Cahan, Conservative, St. Lawrence St. George, assailed the bill as "unjust and immoral."

"From the Ottawa River to the Atlantic Ocean I believe this measure is regarded as the worst racket ever attempted to be perpetrated on men who are honest and meet their debts as they come due," said Mr. Cahan. He admitted he could not speak for Ontario and the west.

One of the essential features of the bill, a write-down of mortgages held by companies which became members of the Central Mortgage Bank, with the Dominion Government assuming half the loss, was particularly objectionable to Mr. Cahan. It meant, he said, that men who had the means of paying their debts would be relieved of paying part of them and that their fellow citizens, the taxpayers, would have to assume the burden.

To ask the public to pay half of the write-down on such debts was "an entirely immoral proceeding."

Hon. Charles Dunning, Minister of Finance, said he would not have recommended the bill had he thought it would impair the national credit. By improving the credit standing of thousands of individuals it could not help but improve the national credit.

Ruling Urged On Drew Charges

McGeer Asks M.P.'s Exonerate Gen. LaFleche Or Recommend He Quit

OTTAWA (CP) — A duty rests on the Commons public accounts committee in respect to charges by Lieut.-Col. George A. Drew against Major-Gen. L. R. LaFleche, deputy minister of militia, either to exonerate the deputy minister or to recommend his dismissal if the charges are waranted, G. G. McGeer, Liberal, Vancouver-Burrard, said today to the committee.

In event of the failure of the committee to return a finding to Parliament before prorogation, expected tomorrow, the alternative would be the suspension of Gen. LaFleche pending further inquiry, Mr. McGeer said.

Col. Drew, Ontario Conservative leader, was examined for the third day on his charge the contract for 7,000 Bren machine guns, given the John Inglis Company Limited, Toronto, by the Defence Department, was "conceived in sin, born in iniquity and cloaked in fraud."

As 1 o'clock adjournment neared, Mr. McGeer interrupted examination of Col. Drew by Howard Green, Conservative, Vancouver South, to move that when the committee met at 22.30 Gen. LaFleche be recalled to answer Col. Drew's charges and that Major James E. Hahn, Inglis president, follow him.

"This is rather unusual procedure," protested Mr. Green. "Mr. McGeer pops up before I'm finished. If that isn't high-handed procedure, I don't know it. It amounts to shutting off evidence."

C. Grant MacNeil, C.C.F., Vancouver North, said he wanted to question Col. Drew and he intended to assert his rights.

"I will not be gagged," he said. "If it happens so, I'll take the usual procedure of an appeal to the House, and if that fails to the country."

Peter Bercovitch, Liberal, Montreal-Cartier, said Gen. LaFleche was a French-Canadian, and it was to be wondered what reaction the charges would have in Quebec province.

"Oh, now, don't bring up that old stuff," interjected Karl Homuth, Conservative, South Waterloo, Ont.

"The people of Quebec will consider it of the greatest importance and LaFleche must be given an opportunity to answer," said Mr. Bercovitch.

FINANCIAL SET-UP

At the start of today's sitting Howard C. Green read from the article paragraphs concerning the Inglis financial structure, one of which said the largest profit opportunities were in the company's stock.

After the original Inglis company went bankrupt, Major James E. Hahn, president of the new Inglis company, and his associates negotiated the purchase of the Inglis assets through a "dummy," said Col. Drew. The promoters "took to themselves" 191,661 shares with $6 par value, equivalent to 76.6 per cent of the total issue, without cash consideration.

Sale of the treasury stock was begun to the public at $7.50 a share, and if it had not been stopped would have resulted in the promoters having all the cash they put up and control of the company too.

G. G. McGeer, Liberal, Vancouver-Burrard, said Major Hahn put up $207,000 of his own money.

HELD BY BANK

Continuing his outline of the Inglis company's set-up, Col. Drew said Major Hahn's 107,000 shares were held by the Bank of Montreal in escrow, in the name of Investment Reserves Ltd., and they were endorsed in blank.

They were known as "street certificates," a brokerage term that meant those shares could be sold "on the street" when they were released for sale by the Ontario securities commissioner.

Normally, said the witness, share certificates of such a large block would comprise only one document, if the owner did not intend to sell them. This stock, however, was divided into a large number of certificates of varying denominations.

Turning to the prospectus on which the stock was sold to the public by a Montreal broker, Col. Drew said this was "one of the worst features" of the situation. He characterized the document as "most inaccurate," saying it failed to disclose the bankruptcy of the John Inglis Company Ltd.

It referred to values placed on the old company without declaring the company was a dead concern and had just recently been revived.

CALLED FALSE

The prospectus gave the impression of a purchase value of $1,400,000, "which is absolutely false," Col. Drew said. The plant had been bought only a short time before for $250,000.

A Toronto broker had resorted to "a most ingenious" method of selling stock, said the witness. This concern had used Drew's magazine article, distributing it to prospective buyers, to show the extent of the profits the Inglis Company could make as a result of the Bren contract. This was done to encourage the sale of the stock although, said Col. Drew, he did not know what the results were.

NEW PLANE SERVICE

Yale Researchers Shed Light On Human Courtship

By MARJORIE VAN DE WATER

NEW HAVEN, Conn. — Men and women probably have a natural mating period as well as do the birds or the creatures of woods and fields. This is indicated by research just reported by Dr. Robert M. Yerkes of the Yale Laboratories of Primate Biology.

Working, not with humans themselves, but with their near relatives, the man-like apes, Dr. Yerkes found that primates do have preferred occasions for love.

Not restricted by the social taboos, modesties, and deceptions that society imposes upon humans, the chimpanzees revealed the recurring periods during which they longed for their mates. It is during these periods that young may be produced.

The girl who "picks her man" among the life-guard or other typical he-man types is following the same pattern that governs the chimpanzee. The female chimpanzee "falls for" the typically masculine among her ape companions.

FEMALE GETS HER MAN

But don't make the mistake of believing courtship among the chimpanzees to be a "cave-man drama" where the male pursues the female and drags her off by the hair of the head with a display of aggressiveness and cruelty.

The chimpanzee female does not welcome force in her mate. She makes friends with the domineering male. She may even grow to love him dearly just as the human girl is devoted to a stern father. But when it comes to choice in courtship, her preference goes to the less domineering animal.

And it is the female who does the proposing in the chimpanzee family. There is no show of coyness, reluctance, or even "come-hither." If she wants him, she goes after him. She rushes to him and prostrates herself at his feet. If she does not want him she usually knows how to manage to put him off.

"Grooming," which might be considered as the chimpanzee parallel of human "petting," is such a feminine wile used to distract the male from more intimate relations. It is also a way of expressing affection and tenderness.

When it is the male who grooms the female, he is trying to curry favor with her or is demonstrating his friendliness.

AID HUMAN STUDY

Chimpanzee grooming is not very different, apparently, from the way humans have of rumpling or smoothing the head of the loved one.

The purpose behind the Yale studies of apes such as this one reported by Dr. Yerkes in the scientific journal, Human Biology, is not mere curiosity regarding the intimacies of life among the lower animals.

"It is not to improve the chimpanzee," Dr. Yerkes declared, "nor even to satisfy our curiosity about its patterns of behavior and their mechanisms that we study the organism persistently."

Because the chimpanzee is so very much like man, he can serve as a substitute for him in laboratory conditions to which men could not be submitted.

By study of the ape, it is hoped that men may gain knowledge regarding the processes of life and of birth control and may learn how to make human marriages more happy and satisfying.

"In the forefront of human needs," said Dr. Yerkes, "is the wise control of sexual behavior and of the quantity and quality of population. For the satisfaction of these necessities our knowledge and understanding of the nature, conditions, and relations of sexual and reproductive phenomena are wholly inadequate.

"Fortunately research in this field of biology commands universal interest, and its results are promptly seized upon for critical scrutiny, evaluation, and application.

"The continuing study of chimpanzee behavior, from which the materials of this report are derived, is motivated primarily by interest in human problems."

Spinning Wheels Back

REGINA (CP) — Spinning wheels are popular with Indian women. Spinning and weaving are being taught them in a program of self-help sponsored by the Department of Indian Affairs.

Button Stops Bullet

REGINA (CP)—A shirt button saved a schoolboy, Clifford Allen, from serious injury. The button on the cuff of his shirt deflected a rifle bullet and he suffered only a slight flesh wound.

To See British In Washington

King and Queen Will Greet Subjects in United States Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — King George and Queen Elizabeth will find 25 minutes to devote to their own subjects next week during their 36-hour visit to Washington.

Their Majesties will pause in the round of official functions Friday morning to greet about 1,000 British nationals from this vicinity, including 300 ex-service men. The reception will take place at the British embassy.

Police estimate that 500,000 persons will see the King and Queen as they ride to the White House Thursday noon with President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

Six thousand soldiers, sailors and marines and 1,468 white-gloved policemen will stand at attention along the line of march from the Union Station.

Foreign diplomats will be presented to Their Majesties at the White House, and then luncheon will be served to the Roosevelt family and the Royal Party. The four Roosevelt sons and two of their wives are expected to be present.

The afternoon sightseeing tour planned for the King and Queen will have to be brief, so they can get to the British Embassy garden party. They will not go to the latter, however, until all 1,350 guests—officials and private citizens such as Colonel Charles Lindbergh and Henry Ford—have gathered.

Dolly Madison china and gold flatware will shine on a horseshoe table at the President's dinner for Their Majesties that night. Fewer than 100 guests will be present, but about 200 others will come in later to see folk-dancing and listen to Marian Anderson, negro contralto; Lawrence Tibbett, opera star; Kate Smith, singer; a negro chorus, and four girl musicians from Coon Creek, Ky. All guests will be presented to Their Majesties.

WAYNESVILLE, N.C. (AP) — When he hoes his rows of hillside corn these days, Samuel McQueen gives them an extra lick, for come June 7 he must leave his crop and take his 17 square dancers to Washington to perform at the White House before King George and Queen Elizabeth.

Chances are the King and Queen have never seen dancing such as this group will show them—yet the dancing is more English than American.

Deep in the Smoky Mountains the steps of the English pioneers have susvived, although they have been forgotten elsewhere.

The McQueen dancers are non-professionals. Most of them live on the hills around Soco Gap, and they dance for the sheer joy of it. The dancers are farmers, mechanics, school teachers, housewives, by trade.

British Rescue Moves Interest U.S. Salvors

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP)—Officers and men laboring at the task of salvaging the sunken United States submarine Squalus and its crew of 26 dead followed with interest today news of the rescue efforts in the Irish Sea, where the British submersible Thetis is down.

Officers at the navy yard, including Lieut. O. F. Naquin, commander of the Squalus when she sank May 23 some 15 miles from here, ducked in and out of the press headquarters set up during the Squalus disaster to learn the latest developments. There was no comment from any of them, however.

Several London papers called last night to get the views of United States officers on the Thetis accident.

Eruption Dies Down

SEATTLE (AP)—Volcanic activity which harassed the village of Perryville on the Alaska Peninsula subsided today after almost driving Indians from the spot they sought refuge from similar eruptions 27 years ago.

Coastguard headquarters here reported Mount Veniaminoff had stopped erupting and danger was past for the present.

MACKENZIE IN NORTH

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of National Defence, arrived in this northern port by plane from Vancouver today on an inspection of the construction of Prince Rupert's defences.
